MEN TO ACCEPT, CHIEFS SAY

NOSKE ASSERTS GERMANY WILL REFUSE TERMS

Charges the Allies Seek to Crush the Nation Forever.

LONDON, Dec. 8, 3 a. m.—[By the Associated Press.] — Gustav Noske, minister of defense, is determined not to sign the peace protocol handed Germany by the entente, and is resolved to recommend that the government adopt his attitude, come what may, according to an interview with Noske printed today.

"The time has come," he said, "for Germany to resist to the uttermost. I cannot speak for the whole government, because it has not yet come to a decision," said Noske, "but I shall recommend a refusal to sign the peace treaty protocol.

Says "Limit Is Reached."

"The limit has long been reached. Let the allies occupy the country if they like. The peace now presented to us is not peace, but a prolongation of the war.

"Were such a treaty accepted the German nation would rise up and smash itself on the men who signed it, and it would be right. Great Britain and France are deliberately planning the destruction of Germany. All the confidence I ever had in the pledges of the allies is gone forever.

"By deceit and trickery the British and French governments are working to opinion in their countries to cripple Germany still further beyond the crushing effect of the first treaty. We have yielded too often, and now must resist. Let the allies do what they please."

Opinion of All Ministry.

Asked whether he would resign if the remainder of the government decided to accept the allied terms, Noske replied that he could not say what he would do a week hence, but that his present position had been deliberately adopted and unalterable.

The correspondent says that although Noske carefully emphasized that he was only defining his own position, his words agreed with the intentions ascribed to the other members of the cabinet.

The two straws which Noske represents as having broken the back of German endurance, says the correspondent, are the demand for dock and harbor material and the protocol empowering the allies to enforce execution of the peace treaty.

"Would Invent Pretext."

The correspondent says that during his talk with Noske he suggested that if the Germans had not sunk the warships in the Scapa Flow the demand of the allies for tugs and docks would not have been made. To this, he says, Noske replied:

"O, yes, they would. The British would have invented some pretext. Great Britain is out to cripple Germany and demands our last dredges and cranes so as to prevent the revival of our mercantile marine."

Noske repudiated the German government's responsibility for the sinking of the warships in Scapa Flow and accused the British government of publishing misleading and "fake" extracts of the letter of Rear Admiral Adolf von Trotha, chief of the German Admiralty, written to Admiral von Reuter, who sank the ships.

"Every Pledge Is Broken."

Regarding the protocol, Noske said he signature would be giving Germany's assent in advance to unlimited future aggressions by the allies.

"What more do you want?" asked Noske. "You used to tell us that if we chased away the Hohenzollerns and adopted a democratic form of government we would have an easy peace. And now you are breaking every pledge you gave. You have imposed upon us such a crushing peace that it could not have been worse if the Hohenzollerns had remained.

"The French doubtless will march into Germany. Let them come. The allies know that Germany is without means of resistance. Allied officers are all over the country. Spies are shuffling about everywhere. All the scare talk about German armament is a deliberate press campaign to prepare public opinion for aggression."

Fear Absence of America.

Noske further hinted at a third objection Germany might raise to the signing of the protocol.

"If the United States stays out," he said, "the commissions established under the peace treaty will be taken over by the other allies. If that means more Frenchmen it would be most in-

DOCTOR TRAPS WIFE; GIVES HER UP TO AFFINITY

He Will Ask Divorce, but Interloper's Mate Forgives.

She is Mrs. Grace Braune, 29 years old, wife of Dr. Frank R. Braune and mother of Dorothy, 10 years old.

He is Edwin James Parr, 57 years old, beloved husband, father of three and respected railroad man.

Divorce Suit Today.

Witnessing the departure of wife and interloper were three detectives and an attorney. They had figured in an exciting chain of events which preceded the denouement. What they heard and saw will be related in the course of a divorce suit to be filed today against Mrs. Braune through George Remus, the attorney.

At 4817 Rice street, last night, was a tired, patient woman, cried-out but forgiving. She was Mrs. Parr. Once before she faced the same truths—and forgave.

In October, 1918, she discovered her husband, superintendent of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad shops, was away on a trip to New York with Mrs. Braune.

On their return she took Parr back and tried to forget. As Christmas approached, Dr. Braune, too, forgave. He had caused Barr's arrest by federal authorities on Mann act charges.

Then at Christmas, 1918, he dropped the complaint and both families, united again, celebrated the Yuletide together.

Door Slam Signal.

Three weeks ago Dr. Braune noticed a peculiar coincidence. Whenever he slammed the door of his automobile on his return home at night, a door in the rear of his home banged in echo.

Saturday he decided to investigate. He sent himself a telegram, purported to have come from a patient in Ottawa, Ill. He showed it to his wife and said he was taking a train. He took his daughter, Dorothy, with him and left the house.

"Shoot Me!"

Here Parr and Mrs. Braune separated. She went in the front door. A few minutes later Parr entered the rear door. Later, husband, lawyer, and detectives swept in.

"Well, caught again," said Dr. Braune.

The wife simply nodded.

"I guess you're right," said Parr, resignedly. Then— "I've done wrong. I guess I ought to be shot. Shoot me if you want to, Braune. I'm game!"

"No, I'll not shoot you," said the physician, quietly. "You have wronged me, you have wronged my child, and you have wronged your wife and children—

"But take the woman. Take her and support her. She is yours now."

He held out his hand and each grasped it in turn.

"Can I stay here tonight, Frank?" she asked.

Hurry Into the Future.

Mrs. Braune turned to the other man.

"Come on, Grace," said this man. "Pack your clothes."

Ten minutes later they hurried into the future together in a taxicab. Their respective spouses had heard nothing from either, last night.

"No, I don't know where he is," said Mrs. Parr. "I wish he would come home. I can forgive. I love him too dearly to lose him now."

ANGELES' WIDOW DIES IGNORANT OF HIS EXECUTION

New York, Dec. 7.—Senora Felipe Angeles, wife of the Mexican revolutionist leader, recently executed by Carranza troops, died today without having been informed of her husband's arrest and death. She came here from El Paso three months ago suffering from nervous exhaustion caused by fear for her husband's safety, and gradually grew worse. She leaves four children. Senora Angeles was 43 years old.

Bombs as symbols of blighted affections? It's possible, say the police. It's so, says Tony Verdone of 2236 West Grand avenue.

A bomb was exploded at the front door of the Verdone residence last night. Six windows and a door were wrecked. No one in the house was hurt.

"My son, Carlo," said Verdone, "got married five months ago. There was a fellow who was jealous. He's done this. No, I don't know who he is. But I know he did it."

WILL LIFT COAL BAN BY DEGREES IF MINES OPEN

Railroads Go Ahead Today with Cut Schedule.

Even if the coal strike ends Tuesday some restrictions will remain in force for a time. This was announced by the regional coal committee yesterday.

The committee stated it would require at least ten days for first shipments of newly mined coal to reach Chicago, as many more for the incoming flow to reach normal, and a considerable period after that to build up depleted reserves. It is regarded as probable the restrictions will be removed one by one—the first to go being those affecting the business hours of retail stores.

The committee also stated it had not approved curtailment of hot water supply and heat in apartment buildings. The railroads announced the one-third cut in passenger service would become effective today, regardless of reports the strike will end.

Statement by Proctor.

In regard to continued restrictions the following statement was issued by T. W. Proctor, chairman of the fuel committee:

"It is my opinion that if the reports of the settlement of the strike are true, it will be necessary for restrictions in the distribution of coal to remain in effect for at least thirty days, and maybe longer.

"The supply of coal could not come to us in quantities great enough to relieve present conditions and the priority classes would remain in effect for the present, and could be changed only from time to time as the supply would increase and authority reach us from Washington."

More Nonessentials May Run.

The regional committee stated it would neither approve nor forbid the operation of nonessential industries today under the arrangement proposed by the "Big Five," which will permit them to operate six and one-half hours. Samuel Insull of the Commonwealth Edison company has announced power will be supplied these industries for the period named. The sanitary district will follow a similar policy.

"We cannot set aside Dr. Garfield's order, even if we wished to do so," said Mr. Proctor. "That order states that no power should be furnished nonessentials. We are, however, willing that the 'Big Five' should thrash the matter out directly with Washington."

It developed that the question of whether nonessentials shall or shall not receive power has become a question of purist English: "Is 'should' a synonym for 'must'?" Mr. Insull of the Commonwealth and Wallace G. Clark of the sanitary district hold that it is not. The fuel committee inclines to the belief it is. Dr. Garfield will be asked to set the class right.

Meanwhile the nonessentials will operate six and one-half hours, ignored by the local fuel committee until Washington speaks.

On Flat Regulations.

On the action of the fuel conservation committee of the Chicago real estate board in announcing that "in order to conserve coal" hot water would be supplied tenants only between the hours of 6:30 and 9 a. m. and 6 and 9 p. m., and that heat—not to exceed 68 degrees Fahrenheit—would be furnished only between 6:30 a. m. and 9 p. m., the fires being banked for the balance of the twenty-four hours, Mr. Proctor and his colleague, G. W. Reed, issued the following statement:

"The regional coal committee not only has given no order to the Chicago real estate board to restrict the supply of hot water and heat in apartment buildings, but refused to do so on request of the Chicago real estate board. Present restrictions on the consumption of coal and power have made the coal situation such that we do not consider it necessary to impose any additional hardships on homes. So we do not consider it necessary to impose such restrictions to effect the small conservation of coal which would be accomplished by the plan of the Chicago real estate board."

Train Plans Unchanged.

Miners Eager to Start Up if Lewis Orders

Pittsburg, Kas., Dec. 7.—Alexander Howat, district president of the Kansas miners, expressed the view today that "if President Lewis and Secretary Green have accepted the proposed settlement of President Wilson, as reported, it is almost certain the settlement meets with the agreement of the union miners or they would not have accepted it."

"Must Satisfy Miners."

Saginaw, Mich., Dec. 7.—President Wilson's proposal for ending the coal miners' strike must be one that will be generally satisfactory to the miners if it has the approval of John L. Lewis, acting president of the miners' union, William Stevenson, president of the Michigan district, stated tonight. He expressed the hope that the president had pointed the way out of the difficulty.

O. K. If Lewis Says So.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 7.—Ellis Searles, editor of the United Mine Workers' Journal, would only reiterate his statement of early this morning, that whatever proposal had proved acceptable to Acting President John L. Lewis and Secretary-Treasurer William Green would be indorsed by the executive board of the miners when it meets here Tuesday afternoon.

Await Orders to Start.

Marion, Ill., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—A. B. McLaren, the largest operator living in southern Illinois, said Sunday that the mines in this section could all resume work immediately upon an order from miners' president. More than 10,000 miners in this county are eager to work if orders are backed by Lewis. They could have held out for at least two months longer. Coal shipments can be resumed within twenty-four hours.

Men Tired of Idling.

Cumberland, Md., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Many miners about Frostburg are disheartened over the prospects of a cheerless Christmas. They are talking openly about resuming early this week, and a break would not be surprising.

SAYS OPERATORS WILL O. K. PLAN OF GOVERNMENT

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 7.—Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the coal operators' scale committee, said tonight the operators will accept any proposition the government offers. Mr. Brewster also said the operators would meet any recommendations made by the committee to be appointed to investigate the miners' demands as provided in Dr. Garfield's proposition.

Mr. Brewster said he had been advised of the compromise only through press reports, and added:

"If the compromise includes a greater wage increase than 14 per cent I believe we would have been officially advised of it. The 14 per cent raise equalizes the miners' salary with the cost of living increase, but we will make any adjustments the proposed investigating committee decides are due the men over the 14 per cent raise. We have accepted Dr. Garfield's proposal in its entirety and we expect to abide by it.

"We will give the men the increase as soon as they return to work, as we have previously assured them."

TERMS UNKNOWN HERE.

Chicago operators last night professed ignorance of the exact terms of the agreement between Attorney General Palmer and the mining chiefs.

"We have no official advices on the subject," Dr. F. C. Honnold of the Illinois Operators' association said. "I assume the basis of settlement is an increase of 14 per cent, probably with the understanding that there will be a commission to make a general investigation of conditions in the mining industry to determine what final settlement shall be made."

WILSON SEES MINE PEACE AT INDIANAPOLIS

Hopes Union Leaders Will Approve New Proposal.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Settlement of the coal strike Tuesday at Indianapolis is confidently expected by the administration as the result of the conference with the heads of the miners' union held here last night. If the program goes through without a hitch, the striking miners will be back at work within forty-eight hours thereafter.

Attorney General Palmer and his assistant, Charles B. Ames, left here tonight for Indianapolis, to lay before the executive council of the miners the revised settlement approved by President Wilson. They were accompanied by Acting President Lewis and Secretary Green of the union, who gave their approval to the plan last night and asked its submission to the body which has power to call off the strike.

Secrecy Shrouds Terms.

The character of this latest move on the part of the administration to meet the fuel famine crisis is a profound official secret. Neither the attorney general nor the leaders of the mine workers would discuss the proposition Mr. Palmer will lay before the strikers.

Some administration officials, who professed to have an inkling of what is afoot, say the new proposal represents no departure from the government's decision that a 14 per cent wage advance is all the miners are entitled to and all the operators can grant without raising the price of coal.

If this is true, it is believed the president's proposition embraces an appeal to the miners to return to work in the interest of national welfare and assurances that the government will undertake to bring about such further wage advances as careful inquiry justified.

To Investigate Owners.

To carry out such an investigation the president may promise a commission which would conduct a thorough inquiry into the advance in the cost of living in the mining communities and the expenses and earnings of the operators.

Such a commission, composed of operators and miners, to be presided over by Secretary of Interior Lane, was suggested by the cabinet when, through Fuel Administrator Garfield, the 14 per cent wage advance was promulgated.

It transpires, however, that Dr. Garfield, who has firmly opposed any recession from the attitude taken by the administration in the 14 per cent proposal, was not a party to the conference last night in which the president's new plan was submitted to the miners.

Garfield Kept in Dark.

In fact, he did not even know that Lewis and Green were in Washington and in touch with the attorney general and Secretary Tumulty.

Whether he knew the tenor of the president's proposal Dr. Garfield would not say. He would go no farther than reiterating that he stands squarely behind the settlement offer of Nov. 26, embodying the 14 per cent average advance and no increase in the price of coal to the consumer. He said he contemplated no compromise or any recession from this stand whatever.

If the offer Attorney General Palmer is taking to Indianapolis does depart from those terms, Dr. Garfield would find himself and the cabinet repudiated and probably would resign the office of fuel administrator. He would have a fellow feeling for Secretary of Labor Wilson, whose offer of a wage advance of 31 per cent was repudiated by the cabinet.

Mystery in Conference.

Concerning the mysterious advent of the miners' leaders in Washington yesterday and the genesis of the new negotiations with the president there are several versions.

One is that the president caused Lewis and Green to be sent for in order to submit a new plan he had evolved for the settlement of the strike.

The other is that the request for the conference came from Lewis and Green, and that they made known what sort of a settlement would be accepted before Attorney General Palmer saw the president.

According to the latter version, the

TO meet the emergency presented by the existing shortage of white paper, and so contribute more substantially toward essential saving of coal, commencing today and continuing during the present emergency, the publishers of all Chicago daily newspapers will curtail the size of their publications upon a uniform basis. This will effect a reduction 10 per cent greater than that imposed by the War Industries Board during the war.

miners foresaw defeat in the strike and the destruction of their union, and "came into camp," with a proposal to surrender to the government instead of to the operators, on a basis of accepting terms from the president and thereby "saving face."

Sullivan and Oglesby Act.

That Lieut. Gov. Oglesby, representing Gov. Lowden of Illinois, and Roger Sullivan had an important part in stirring the administration to action is generally conceded here. Apparently Washington failed to realize the seriousness of the coal shortage in the middle west until told the facts by Mr. Oglesby and Roger Sullivan.

Further, Mr. Sullivan's close political affiliations with Secretary Tumulty put him in position to talk "cold turkey" to the president's closest adviser. The word Mr. Sullivan is reported to have brought to Secretary Tumulty hastened his conference at the White House with President Wilson, which resulted in some definite action being taken at the meeting at Attorney General Palmer's office with Mr. Lewis and Mr. Green for the miners.

BOTH SIDES AWAIT OFFER

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 7.—Government officials and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America professed ignorance tonight of the terms of the proposal for settlement of the strike agreed upon last night in Washington by officials of the miners' union and Attorney General Palmer and Joseph Tumulty, the president's secretary.

Henry S. Mitchell, special assistant to Mr. Palmer here to assist in the investigation of alleged violations of the Lever act and anti-trust laws, said that he had received no new advices from Washington. He would venture no opinion as to whether the contempt proceedings against heads of the miners' union would be dismissed or postponed.

Attorneys for the miners said they had no idea as to the proposal made in Washington and that they could not predict what effect the agreement would have on the court proceedings here.

Two Laws Are Involved.

Action against the coal men will be sought under both the Lever and anti-trust acts, and according to attorneys for the government the investigation will extend to every section of the country in which bituminous coal miners are on strike.

According to government attorneys, they have evidence that the operators not only have conspired with the miners in violation of government statutes but they have formed a combination of operators alone intended to limit the production of coal.

The operators have declared that they welcome an investigation of the charges against them. Miners' officials have remained silent.

Rockefeller Foundation Picks Medical Director

New York, Dec. 7.—The Rockefeller foundation today announced the appointment of Dr. Richard M. Pearce of the University of Pennsylvania as general director of its division of medical education. Dr. Pearce will aid in formulating plans for developing medical education in countries outside the United States.

OFFICERS' LOSS HEAVY.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—Eighteen and seven-tenths per cent of the officers mobilized during the war were killed or died of wounds, according to official statistics published Sunday. Six-tenths per cent of the rank and file died through similar causes.

WILL LIFT COAL BAN BY DEGREES IF MINES OPEN

Railroads Go Ahead with Cut Schedules Today.

western passenger traffic board which must approve all train reductions, came this statement:

"After examining all reports made to Regional Directors R. H. Aishton and Hale Holden up to Sunday noon, it appears there is no information to be given out regarding train service reductions in the Northwestern and Central Western regions other than that issued at 9 o'clock last night."

R. H. Aishton issued the following:

"The present indications of an early end of the strike will not in any way affect the proposed reduction in passenger train service in the west effective tomorrow, as this must remain in force, or in a modified form, until such time as railroad coal stocks are replaced, or until it is felt that the railroads, the industries and the ultimate consumers are thoroughly protected."

CONSERVATION GOES ON

The Big Five, as well as the other agencies, considered all the information available yesterday. It was the committee's opinion, on that data, it would be indiscreet to recommend the lifting of the ban on any restriction before next Saturday.

Under the rules all industries will be permitted to operate today for six and one-half hours, whether in the essential or non-essential classification and regardless also of whether they are operated by coal produced power or by hydro-electric plants. Their hours are from 9 to 3:30.

These hours are also applicable to wholesale houses and storage warehouses.

Stores Open Six Hours.

Retail stores will be open from noon until 6 o'clock this evening. Office buildings will be supplied power, heat and light between 9 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. All of the other rules of the state public utility commission, as amended Friday, will be in effect, including half interior illumination and the total elimination of display and advertising lighting.

The saving to the Commonwealth Edison company, as illustrative, has been 34 per cent on the maximum load between last Monday and Friday and a load saving per whole day of 20 per cent. The fuel saving, according to Mr. Insull, has been about 25 per cent, or 2,000 tons of coal per day.

This pace is to be continued for the present, according to the program agreed upon yesterday.

Statement by Insull.

After the committee of five finished its second session yesterday Mr. Insull gave out the following authorized statement of advice and suggestions for the committee:

"The committee hopes that the crisis is over and that all differences will be adjusted as quickly as possible. But it is necessary that the conservation of coal continue. That is the only prudent course.

"We want to warn the public against any relaxation in conservation of fuel. Economy should continue for some time. It must be three or four days before it is possible to know whether a settlement has been arrived at. The only reliable evidence that the menace is passed will be when the miners are back in the mines and at work.

"It is generally supposed that can't possibly happen before Friday of this week.

"Gov. Lowden has been the leading spirit in the whole matter. Night and day he has worked to bring about a settlement and has done everything possible to aid in the conservation of coal.

"This committee will ask for modification of the restrictions as rapidly as it deems it wise to do so. There is no desire to continue them a day longer than prudent precaution suggests is necessary."

Gov. Lowden and James H. Wilkerson of the state public utility commission conferred during the day. The commission was busy most of the day listening to complaints.

HERE'S HOW COAL RULINGS AFFECT YOUR PLANS TODAY

The industrial and business situation in Chicago today, under the coal conservation rules, is as follows:

STORES—Will be open from 12 o'clock noon until 6 p. m. Cigar stores not in office buildings, drug stores, meat markets, groceries, bread making establishments, hotels, restaurants, garages, billiard and pool rooms, bath houses, and bowling alleys are not required to conform to this rule. They may operate their usual number of hours, but must economize on heat, light, and power.

FACTORIES—Will be permitted to operate from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., whether they are classed as essential industries or not. This applys to all classes of workshops except plants where continuous operation is necessary. These must suspend all operation two working days each week.

OFFICE BUILDINGS — Will have light, heat, and power from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

LOCAL TRANSPORTATION schedules will be reduced. Railroad companies have not yet perfected their reduced schedules to a point where they can publish them, and have advised the public to inform itself by communicating with railroad information offices. Heat in cars will be reduced as much as practicable.

RAILROADS will carry out the one-third reduction in passenger mileage, ordered to become effective today. The information seeking public is advised to make inquiry at railroad ticket offices regarding trains until such time as the list of trains taken off is published in full.

THEATERS have revised their bills to comply with the rule allowing them six performances a week. Vaudeville and legitimate houses will be dark tonight and Tuesday.

SCHOOLS will hold classes as usual.

CHURCHES are not interfered with under the ruling.

APARTMENT HOUSES are not restricted beyond the request that as much economy as possible be used in use of light, heat, and power. Any other restrictions are made at the initiative of the landlord.

GENERALLY everybody is urged to reduce the use of light, heat, and power as far as possible without causing actual hardship.

Pit Maintenance Must Continue, Farrington Says

Duquoin, Ill., Dec. 7.—Striking maintenance men at local coal mines today were ordered to return to work in a circular letter from Frank Farrington, president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois. It was not indicated whether the men here would comply. It was reported, however, that striking maintenance men in Williamson county would resume work tomorrow.

NO "INHERENT RIGHT TO STRIKE," KIRKLAND SAYS

"A great deal has been said about the inherent right of a man to strike. I deny that right. When a man strikes his right ends where the rights of the public begins," said Chancellor James H. Kirkland of Vanderbilt university before the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last night.

Chancellor Kirkland was introduced by Clifford W. Barnes, president of the club as "the prince of beggars" because he had recently raised $4,000,000 for the institution of which he is the head.

"More than a year ago," said Mr. Kirkland, "the greatest war the world ever has seen came to an end. We expected peace. Instead we have found that we must work with one hand and fight with the other. Every laborer wishes to work less and receive more. Every one else wishes to spend more. It is a vicious circle made up of high wages and high prices—both going up.

"And with that condition has come unrest. Everybody is eager for a change. So strikes have come.

"The interests of society are greater than the rights or interests of any group or any man.

"Shall the red flag of anarchy prevail over the Red, White, and Blue? Never, never, never!

"There should be state legislation placing the power to end lawlessness in the hands of the governor and federal legislation toward the same end."

END COAL WOES ONCE FOR ALL, PLEA BY PASTOR

"There is something fundamentally wrong in our whole system of mining and distributing coal," said the Rev. Charles W. Gilkey, pastor of the Hyde Park Baptist church, yesterday at union services with the University Congregational church, held as a coal saving measure. "The layman does not know enough to judge the trouble or the issues involved," he said, "but it is evident that something is very, very wrong.

"The fact that settlement is in sight should inspire us to find out what the trouble is, as a like condition will not occur in a few months. It is an American trait to let a thing like this pass unchecked.

"A permanent settlement should be reached placing the government, the miners, and the operators in such relation that the whole country will not be made to suffer for inefficiency or bullheadedness."

Let U. S. Seize Mines and End Unrest—Lewis

Government seizure as a cure for future labor and capital deadlocks was advocated by James Hamilton Lewis in an address at Cohan's Grand Opera house yesterday afternoon. The former United States senator was the speaker at the annual memorial service of Chicago Elks' lodge No. 4. He said in part:

"Our government is shown to have no power to enforce the purposes of government, justice, peace, and prosperity. If the one instance of the coal miners, from vengeance for wrongs, as they feel them, and the mine owners, from the privilege of power from private ownership, can stop the government from functioning, then the republic is a failure.

"The present condition would justify the United States in seizing the mines at once and operating them through workmen who will serve: pay the miners a just wage, and return to the owners the excess earnings from the sale of coal over the expense of operation."

STATES GO AHEAD WITH PLANS FOR OBTAINING COAL

While the country is hopefully expectant that the government's new proposal will end the strike, reports last night indicated that various committees did not intend to be caught napping and were preparing to produce coal and still further economize in its use, if necessary. Briefly, the situation is as follows:

Pittsburg, Kas.—State officials hope to have fourteen mines running today; twenty cars waiting for rail movement; receivership to continue for present even if settlement is reached in east.

Jefferson City, Mo.—Four mines working twenty-four hours with volunteers; all Barton county mine pumps manned; new pits to open elsewhere; officials pay no attention to federal government's effort to end strike till it is ended.

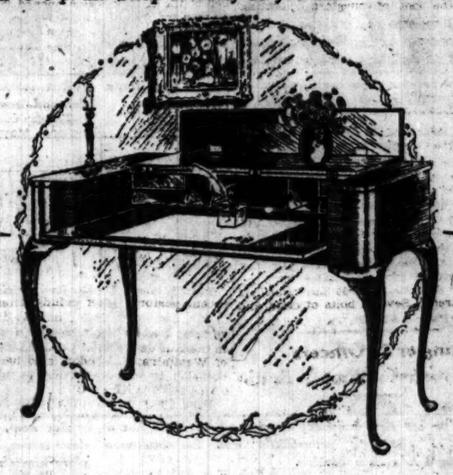

Cleveland, O.—With 25,000 idle and 100,000 expected so this week and bins emptying everywhere in this vicinity, situation is serious; many neighboring cities close all industries; return of miners to producing not expected to relieve situation for months at Columbus Gov. Cox calls out meetings with operators and miners scheduled for today.

Detroit, Mich.—About 100,000 idle here today under half time working schedule; fuel reserves won't be touched till strike is called off officially; Muskegon, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Port Huron merchants meet today to further restrict fuel use.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Drastic regulations in coal fields under martial law promulgated; mining operations start today.

Butte, Mont.—No coal; weather cold; not in thirty years; thousands out of work; hundreds of families in want.

14 PER CENT GAIN OF $107,000,000 A YEAR TO MINERS

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

What does the 14 per cent mean?

To the miners it is a wage increase of $107,000,000 a year, in the opinion of Dr. Garfield. He reckons this on a production of 500,000,000 tons. The tonnage in 1918 is officially given as 579,385,820 tons. Therefore if the output is as large or larger in 1920 the aggregate yearly increase of the miners will total more.

The 14 per cent over the discarded wage scale is represented as approximately 30 per cent above the average miner's wage in 1914.

Wage Scale Changes.

A sample of the way the wage boost would be distributed in central Illinois is indicated in the following table, showing wage scale per ton and per day for typical jobs just before the war, just before the present strike, the 30 per cent increase demanded by the miners originally, and the 14 per cent:

Job.	Mar. 31, 1914.	Oct. 31, 1919.	Demand, 60%.	14%.
Pick miner.....	$0.617	$0.847	$1.455	$0.965
Driver	2.84	5.00	8.00	5.70
Shot examiner..	3.377	5.54	8.86	6.31
Runners	2.778	4.91	7.856	5.56
Trackman helper	2.62	4.75	7.60	5.39
"Other" labor..	2.62	4.65	7.44	5.30
Day trapper.....	1.25	2.65	4.24	3.02

*Per ton.

†Also wage of drivers, trip riders, trackmen, timbermen, and a few other classes.

But in the final settlement the miners may get more. If they receive the 30 per cent, offered by the operators, the coal diggers' aggregate annual income will be supplemented by $150,000,000. If they should get the 31.61 per cent recommended by Secretary of Labor Wilson, the increase will be $225,000,000, as compared by Garfield.

He estimates the nation's coal bill for 1919 at the mine mouth, as $1,300,000,000. That is at the rate of $2.61 a ton. The average cost of production he places at $2.15. That leaves the operators 46 cents, or $225,000,000 for profits, interest charges, selling expense, federal taxes, both normal and excess profit, as well as other recognized but unnamed items.

$750,000,000 Labor Bill.

Of the $2.15, Dr. Garfield says that supplies and general expense ate up 35 per cent, or a trifle over 64 cents, while the other $1.50, or $750,000,000, went to labor. These figures refer to the entire country.

For the central competitive field, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and western Pennsylvania, he gives the margin to the operators at 48 cents, but adds that the last three months of 1918 more nearly approach normal conditions. For that period he gives the margin as 56 cents.

The interest in these figures of margins lies in the attitude of Dr. Garfield, heretofore, that they are too high. He, in effect, has asserted that the operations out of these margins can stand an average 14 per cent wage increase and still retain profits enough. So his position has been that the price of coal must not be increased.

Is that reduced margin sufficient? The operators say, No. If that is true, then some mines where the production cost is high will be put out of business Dr. Garfield has admitted that a 35 per cent wage increase without a boost in the price of coal would close up mines.

"Sound Economics."

Some local coal students believe it was the purpose of Dr. Garfield to shut up mines where the production cost is too high. They look upon this as "the promising program of an able economist." These students claim Dr. Garfield's program is identical with that carried out by the Steel corporation in its consolidation.

The underlying theory is that there are too many coal mines. If all were operated full time 40 per cent more coal would be produced than could be burned. It is poor economic policy to operate mines where the cost is high, if a full adequate supply can be obtained from mines where the production cost is lower.

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Washington Bureau of The Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.

ATTORNEY GENERAL PALMER and his assistant, Charles B. Ames, left for Indianapolis to lay before the executive committee of the coal miners' union President Wilson's latest proposal for the settlement of the mine strike. They were accompanied by Acting President Lewis and Secretary Green of the union, who approved the plan last night.

WITH the mental capacity of the president to perform his functions established and Jenkins released from actual confinement, the tension of the Mexican situation has been relieved and Mr. Wilson is in control of the policy this government will pursue.

DIRECTOR CHOLMELEY-JONES of the war risk bureau has invited all state commanders of the American Legion and its officers to a meeting Dec. 15 to discuss a more effective administration of the bureau and closer connection with soldiers and dependents in its operations.

Yards Labor Council Attacks Wage Decision

The Stockyards Labor council, which is involved in a row with the international butcher's union over union jurisdictions, held a meeting at Carmen's hall last night, where they told about 4,000 of their members of Judge Alschuler's wage decision.

Martin Murphy, president of the council, presided, while J. W. Johnstone, secretary, delivered an address attacking the decision. John Kikulski, an organizer for the council, talked in various languages to the workers, most of them being foreigners.

SEOUL, Dec. 5.—Delayed.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Supreme court today confirmed the decision of the Court of Appeals, convicting the Rev. Eli Miller Mowry, a Presbyterian missionary of Mansfield, O., of sheltering Corean agitators during the Corean revolt. Mr. Mowry was sentenced to pay a fine of 100 yen or go to prison for twenty days. The court gave him thirty days in which to decide whether he would pay the fine or serve the jail term.

DARKENED CITY HELPS CROOKS TO BOOZE AND BONDS

Liquor, clothing, and Liberty bonds were the loot of burglars operating without molestation in places of business darkened by the coal strike, according to reports to the police last night.

After jimmying into the office of the A. N. Edwards company, manufacturers of leather and harness goods at 725 North Cicero avenue, burglars blew the safe and took $575 worth of Liberty bonds belonging to employés. Harness and leather goods valued at $2,000 were also taken.

Forty-eight quarts of whisky, valued at $500, was stolen from the saloon of H. D. Leeds, 2305 South Halsted street.

A broken back door opened the way for burglars into the tailor shop of Reesler & Kreis at 1203 South Sangamon street. Several bolts of cloth and dresses valued at $800 were taken.

Ousting of 23 Officers Upsets Cabinet in Spain

MADRID, Dec. 7.—King Alfonso will be handed the resignation of the whole Toca cabinet on Monday. The cabinet held a meeting last night, following the action of Gen. Covaro, minister of war, who resigned after the cabinet published the decision of the court of honor calling upon twenty-three officers to leave the army.

The socialist deputies have announced their determination, if a military government replaces the Toca cabinet, to call a general strike in Spain.

The twenty-three officers whose expulsion from the army by the court of honor caused the cabinet crisis, today published a long protest in the organ of the striking newspaper employés, Our Journal.

Rumor in London Viceroy of Ireland May Resign

LONDON, Dec. 7.—"It is believed that the proposal to abolish trial by jury and to establish a commission of judges in Ireland has been postponed," says the Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent, "and that Downing street has expressed doubt as to the wisdom of some of the military proceedings in Ireland. The possible resignation of the viceroy is talked about."

"FOLLIES OF THE AGES"

Eve, Cleopatra, vampires, bathing girls, and all other types of alluring femininity haunted the cameo rooms of the Hotel Morrison last night. They danced and sang and smiled and kicked in a musical pageant called "The Follies of the Ages," which opened in the Garden of Eden and ended in New York harbor with the statue of Liberty waving her beacon for the edification of all. The young ladies—150 of them—belong to the Junior Mount Sinai hospital workers. More than $4,000 was raised to help the hospital, which was opened last May. The production was under the direction of I. Maynard Schwartz.

PRELATES BLUSH AT GOWNS WORN IN PARIS, LONDON

PARIS, Dec. 7.—Cardinal Amette's recent pastoral letter calling attention in his diocese to the "immorality of certain dresses" has caused a flurry in the Rue de la Paix. Cardinal Bourne of Westminster, London, also has had occasion to take exception to certain styles worn in that city.

Mme. Paquin, president of the Chamber of Parisian Dressmakers, while admitting that some styles are rather daring, says:

"Dressmaking is a delicate art, and if certain works of art turned out lately offend good taste it is because they are imperfect. A little snip of the scissors may spoil completely an effect which should be elegantly preserved.

"I can readily see that Cardinal Amette was sometimes shocked, and am quite in accord with him and his desire that certain styles disappear."

VIOLINIST RIGO FIGHTS FOR LIFE IN N. Y. HOSPITAL

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—"Rigo is dying!" That was the message flashed through New York's Bohemia Saturday night.

But Rigo is fighting his greatest battle—for life—in Roosevelt hospital. Double pneumonia sent him there a week ago.

"I shall not die. I live—for my wife—and my violin," said Rigo this afternoon. "And I weesh you say for me that I go on that—what-you-call-it, ah, yes—the waterwagon. I drink the wine again, but nevair, nevair, the whiskey."

Rigo's physician believes he will recover.

OPERATORS AND MINERS OF STATE GUESS ON RAISE

Belief Prevalent the Boost Will Figure 20 to 25 Per Cent.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Operators and strikers alike in the central Illinois fields passed the day guessing as to the terms of the compromise which Attorney General Palmer announced has been agreed to by John L. Lewis, acting president and William Green, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers.

Both sides declare they had no information save that in the notice put forth at Washington, which kept the details veiled. They both jumped at similar conclusions, however, and the conjecture of owners and workers was that the compromise will embrace a wage increase somewhere around 22 to 25 per cent.

These figures, in fact, have been on the tongues of both sides here for the last week. The miners in many localities, even in the radical spots, have indicated 25 per cent raise would get them back, while operators talk 22½ per cent.

See Settlement Wednesday.

The belief seems prevalent that the strike will be settled by Wednesday or Thursday, and today there was considerable inquiry as to how long it will take the mines to get into full swing once the walkout is terminated.

Semi-official reports from all Illinois coal fields are that the workings are in such shape that operations can start within an hour or two after the whistle blows.

In most instances, it is said, within half a day the hoisting of coal can start, and twenty-four hours will be enough to strike an output almost up to the daily average. Some of the "long wall" mines in northern Illinois will require more time, due to the difference in mining methods.

Many Cars on Tracks.

As to transportation, a trip through Sangamon and Christian counties showed long strings of cars on every mine siding. Every shipping mine in the district is said to have cars in waiting. From the south fields come reports to the same effect.

Meanwhile the question of how much if any compromise raise is to be passed on to the consuming public is widely discussed. Apparently the operators fully expect to have to absorb at least the 14 per cent raise. Whether they will be required to stand a larger percentage is a question.

Frank Farrington, head of the Illinois mine workers, left tonight for Peoria, where the writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Fitzhenry is returnable in the morning.

Advertising—Expense or Asset?

Put Your Advertising On A Business Basis

WHEN you look over your payroll, you check up on employes.

You are able any minute to tell whether Jones is earning what you pay him; you are able to say whether or not Smith is live timber or deadwood.

When you take an inventory of stock you know at once whether or not your purchases of material were sensible.

You have cold black and white figures before you and it is a case of profit or loss.

It is all a problem of investment in the time and effort of men, in the selling possibilities of materials.

The buying of your advertising space is just as important—often more so. Are you advertising just to be advertised? Or are you making a business investment of your advertising money?

Sometimes we think the best part of our service is advising our customers how to invest their advertising appropriations.

How much should you use in your advertising campaign? How should it be used? How is your sales force to squeeze every cent's worth of benefit out of it in its work with the dealers? How are dealers in turn to get their full benefit from your advertising?

When your campaign is over, what will it be on your books? An expense or an asset?

That's what we should like to talk over with you—the very important part of your advertising plans—how shall your money be spent?

We put advertising on a real business basis.

YOU will agree with us that when your advertising, sales and auditing departments can unite in saying that your advertising is an invested asset and not a "red-ink" item, your problem is solved.

We will be glad to make our first solicitation of your account on that basis. With that point covered to your satisfaction, you will be more interested in the other important features of our complete service.

"Newspaperdom" recently wrote our customers relative to our method of working for and with them, and we quote below extracts from two of the replies:

Root & Van Dervoort Engineering Co., Moline, Ill.

It is indeed a pleasure for me to offer comment on the general efficiency of the Wm. H. Rankin Advertising Agency. It is, however, difficult in a brief statement, to adequately express my keen regard for the quality of service rendered by this agency and the ability of the men who are conducting it.

Its recommendations have been based on observations in long experience and upon findings in careful investigation. Thoroughness marks each and every feature of their service and the personal attention to the interests of the client, recommending oft-times economies rather than the extravagant expenditure of money, is in the writer's opinion a most important essential of highly satisfactory relations, such as we have had with them.

C. H. VAN DERVOORT, Gen. Sales Mgr.

Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Wm. H. Rankin Company have produced for us more constructive ideas which can be built upon from year to year than we have been able to secure in the many years we have been in business. I am particularly impressed with the fact that all work, or advertising turned out by the Rankin organization has a certain continuity or tie-up which identifies each and every ad with previous advertising.

I am also impressed with the simplicity and ease with which this organization turns out its work, impressing one with the fact that every person connected with the organization is particularly adapted for his or her special work, and that the entire company is working to one point, viz., to build up prestige and increase business for their client.

SESSION OF G.O.P. COMMITTEE HAS CAPITAL STAGE

Already Drawing Leaders of Party; St. Louis Men Arrive.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—The leading figures of the Republican party will be in Washington most of this week for the meeting of the national Republican committee, which convenes Wednesday.

Although selection of a place and date for the 1920 national convention is the only business formally before the committee, the gathering of party leaders is expected to bring out a great deal of discussion of candidates and policies, with preliminary jockeying which may have an important bearing on the campaign.

St. Louis Camping at the Gate.

Several members of the committee and many others prominent in Republican circles in the various states already had arrived tonight, and St. Louis had broken the ice of the fight for the convention by opening headquarters. Chicago, also making a determined effort for selection as the convention city, is expected to be represented tomorrow by a special train of boosters.

By Wednesday at least four candidates' headquarters are expected to be at work. The managers for Gen. Leonard Wood are to reach Washington tomorrow and the Illinois delegation trying to get the convention for Chicago is expected to organize also a campaign for the nomination of Gov. Frank O. Lowden.

Harding Men Active.

Friends of Senator Harding of Ohio are understood to be planning to take advantage of the meeting and headquarters for Senator Poindexter of Washington have been active here for some weeks.

Will H. Hays, the national chairman, is expected tomorrow. John T. Adams of Iowa, vice chairman, came in tonight. Other arrivals were the New Hampshire committeeman, Fred W. Estabrook, and Jacob L. Babler, the Missouri committeeman.

CHICAGO MEN GO TODAY.

Chicago's delegation starts for Washington this morning to attend the session of the Republican national committee, firm in the faith that Chicago will be the winner by a wide margin when the national committeemen select a city for next June's Republican national convention.

Chairman Fred W. Upham of the Chicago committee yesterday took a final count of pledges and promises made by committee members during the six months that the campaign has been in progress.

"Unless an unexpected situation arises, Chicago ought to win by a handsome margin," he said. "I will be disappointed if Chicago's vote is less than forty of the fifty-two members who will have votes."

Chairman Upham's committee from the Association of Commerce departs for Washington at 10:30 o'clock this morning over the Pennsylvania. The Hamilton club goes on the same train. Mayor Thompson and party of fifty will leave at 5:45 this evening over the Baltimore & Ohio.

POINDEXTER IN FIGHT ON WOOD IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—J. W. Bryan, political manager for Senator Poindexter, says he will file the independent Republican petition of the senator tomorrow.

"It is reported," he said, "that the petition carrying the name of Gen. Leonard Wood for president is to be filed without the signature of Gen. Wood to the statement that he will serve if elected and that he adheres to the principles communicated in the convention platform

"Senator Poindexter is prepared to obey the South Dakota primary law, but he will insist that all candidates obey the same rules. While I am not authorized to say the secretary of state will be enjoined from placing the name of any candidate for president on the ballot until he has signed the required statement, still it is my opinion that the court will be invoked if necessary to enforce the law."

Asked whether there would be trouble about Gen. Wood signing, Mr. Bryan said:

"Well, Woodrow Wilson is Leonard Wood's commander in chief. We are still at war. The declaration of principles promulgated by the convention provide for reservations to the peace treaty to Americanize it. It seems incomprehensible to me that Gen. Wood will sign any such declaration at issue with his commander in chief."

Col. Procter Chairman of Wood Campaign for 1920

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 7.—Col. William Cooper Procter, Cincinnati manufacturer, today announced his acceptance of the chairmanship of the Leonard Wood national campaign committee.

Col. Procter's statement says:

"I am for Gen. Wood because I believe he is the strongest man in the country, and the situation needs him. I have accepted this position at the request of his friends only because it seems to me that it is the duty of every man in the country to help put at the head of our sadly disorganized government the right man. Gen. Wood is that man."

Gifts expressing thoughtfulness

To give thoughtfully one must select gifts that have permanence. Of the countless holiday expressions of sentiment there is nothing that has the permanent value of jewelry. In your own family jewelry chest today there are perhaps heirlooms now highly treasured that were remembrances at Yuletide many, many years ago.

Satisfactory jewelry selections greatly depend upon your faith in the merchant. Faith is a potent factor in the buying of jewelry, diamonds and precious stones. Faith in the seller is vital to the purchaser's satisfaction and to the recipient's appreciation. This institution has maintained a high standard of quality and service to deserve that faith.

The Lewy collection of Christmas gifts offers a varied array of thoughtful tokens. These gifts are arranged for leisure and convenient selection. You will also find the Lewy sales service conscientious to the degree of making your selection infinitely satisfactory.

PRESIDENT HAS FULL POWER IN MEXICO AFFAIR

Congress Will Take Any Course That He Proposes.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—President Wilson is in complete control of the direction of American policy in dealing with Mexico. The president is thoroughly conversant with the Mexican situation, which has been relieved somewhat by the release of Consular Agent Jenkins.

If President Wilson should indicate that congress should adopt the Fall resolution requesting a severance of diplomatic relations with Mexico and withdrawal of recognition of Carranza, there would be little opposition to the passage of the measure.

There is a general expectation that Mr. Wilson will communicate his views to the foreign relations committee, which will meet tomorrow.

Opposed to Further Delay.

There is opposition in congress to adding a policy of temporizing longer with Carranza.

The Jenkins case is not settled, and the state department received today no further information on the mysterious furnishing of bail for the consular agent by J. Salter Hansen, a friend of Luis Cabrera, brother of the governor of Puebla, where Jenkins was arrested. It is taken for granted here that the Mexican government inspired Hansen's act in furnishing bail.

Will Release Witnesses.

Laredo, Tex., Dec. 7.—Forty Mexicans of Santa Maria and San Bernabe, held as witnesses in connection with the abduction of William O. Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, Mexico, will be released at once, "as there is no proof against them of wrongdoing," according to the Mexico City newspaper, Excelsior.

After the raid Mrs. Braune and Parr left the dwelling together in a taxicab.

Tells of German Plot to Execute 29 Sailors

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—[Delayed.]—Capt. von Kessel, who acted as intermediary between Maj. Gen. Reinhardt and First Lieut. Marloh last March, when twenty-nine sailors were executed, assumed an important rôle today in the trial of Marloh, who is being tried for shooting the sailors. In fact, Von Kessel became one of those accused of exceeding his authority, along with Reinhardt and Marloh.

Witness after witness testified that 100,000 marks had been offered Von Kessel to test his loyalty. Gen. Baron von Oertzen said that, to his surprise, Von Kessel was willing to take the money offered him. Von Kessel sprang to his feet, denying he was even tempted to take the money.

Lucky New Yorkers May Get Still Another Subway

New York, Dec. 7.—A new tunnel under the East river from Brooklyn bridge plaza, Brooklyn, to connect with the Broadway subway at City Hall park, Manhattan, and to cost $12,750,000, is recommended by Transit Construction Commissioner John H. Delaney to Lindley M. Garrison, receiver of the New York Municipal Railway corporation. The project is to relieve traffic on Brooklyn bridge, as otherwise $9,000,000 must be spent to strengthen the bridge to bear modern steel coaches.

JAPS CIRCULATE ANTI-YANK LIES THROUGH SIBERIA

Angry Red Cross Girl Brings in Sample 'Signed by 142 Women.'

BY FREDERICK SMITH.

[Tribune Correspondent in the Far East.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

HARBIN, Oct. 26.—When the train from Omsk reached Irkutsk the other day an American Red Cross girl, learning there was a TRIBUNE correspondent aboard, looked me up. She took a folded paper from her pocket and said:

"Please send this to America, and let our people know how good American soldiers are being treated by the Russians and the Japanese."

The paper contained an appeal, ostensibly inspired, signed by 142 Russian women and directed against our soldiers in Siberia. I made further inquiry, and found that Americans believe it to be only another piece of Japanese propaganda. Some support was given this theory by the fact that the English is strongly suggestive of characteristic Japanese errors.

Copies of the appeal had been posted on walls in towns and cities on the Trans-Siberian railroad all the way through the Trans-Baikail country—1,500 miles from Irkutsk to Vladivostok.

Here Is Text.

The text is hereby given in part, errors in spelling, verbiage, and construction not being eliminated:

"To the Russian Women of Trans-Baikail: In some papers appeared a proclamation, inviting Russian women to declare to All Americans a boycott until they will mark in worthy manner, behavior of laucering on station Handohedrid, American Inspector Harrigan" we group of Trans Baikal women of different social position and wealth in number of 142 people, in our turn adjoin our voice to this proclamation and except that from our side, offer to continue the boycott in the form of refusal of all acquaintance, talk with all the Americans, till the whole change of them their traitorous artful relations to Russia.

"We charge American soldiers seditiously behave themselves, particularly in Verke-Udinsk, where cases of robbery, murder, massacre, insultment of officials, and hideous offenses to women have happened."

Harrigan from St. Paul.

Only brief comment seems necessary. The "American Inspector Harrigan" mentioned was a member of the American railway service corps in Russia. His headquarters were at St. Paul, where, it is said, he was employed by the Northern Pacific.

A Russian officer, with gun drawn, was trying to bully a station master into violating orders issued by the interallied railroad board, of which John F. Stevens is chief. Harrigan told the Russian to quit it. The Russian officer told Harrigan all Americans and bolshevists should be taken out on the hill and shot. Harrigan demanded a retraction of this statement. The Russian officer declined.

What Harrigan did then was what any man of the name of Harrigan might be expected to do. Then he handed the Russian officer's gun back. The Russian withdrew.

CONTAGION GROWS IN CITY, BUT FLU CASES DECREASE

THERE were 178 cases of influenza during November of this year, with twenty-six deaths, the health department announced yesterday. During that month last year there were 4,177 cases and 1,155 deaths.

Pneumonia claimed 610 persons last month and 192 died; in November, 1918, there were 2,490 cases and 439 deaths.

"The rising tendency in both the morbidity and mortality figures on communicable diseases, as noted in the October health review," says the city health department's bulletin, "has continued throughout November.

"Marked increases are to be noted in measles, chickenpox, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, and diphtheria. However, the death rate for the month is lower than for the same month of last year."

WAR MADE NAVY POWER, DANIELS SAYS IN REPORT

"Incomparably Stronger than Before"; Asks Increased Pay.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—Incomparably stronger and more efficient than ever before, the American navy emerged from the world war "second only to that of Great Britain and far in advance of any other foreign navy in ships, in men, and every element of strength," Secretary Daniels declared today in his annual report.

With eighteen capital ships—twelve superdreadnaughts and six giant battle cruisers—under construction, all representing the last word in naval construction, and several superior to any fighting vessels now in commission, the navy is "pressing forward to greater things," Mr. Daniels said.

Specific Recommendations.

Recommendations by the secretary for the betterment of the service included:

Extension of the course at the naval academy to five years so the midshipmen may spend one year afloat as enlisted men.

Immediate enlargement of the naval establishment on the Pacific coast to take care of the new Pacific fleet.

Temporary increases in pay of officers and enlisted men and increases in amounts allowed for commutation of quarters and other allowances.

Government control of wireless communication.

Expansion of the naval air service and continuation of the present policy of a separate air service for the navy.

Construction of new buildings, including a new memorial chapel at the Naval academy.

Change in the names of the bureaus of navigation and steam engineering to personnel and engineering bureau, respectively.

Cost in War, Three Billions.

Mr. Daniels made no recommendations as to an annual building program, explaining that the recommendations of the navy general board were under consideration and that estimates would be prepared soon for presentation to congress.

The actual cost of the navy to the nation during the war was placed by the secretary at $3,982,000,000. During the next fiscal year, he said, the navy's needs will be approximately $573,151,354, or approximately $40,000,000 less than the sum asked for during the present fiscal year.

Commenting on the construction records during the war, the secretary said that during the twelve months ended last Oct. 1, 159 vessels of all classes were completed for the navy. These included 103 destroyers, one battleship, thirty-two submarines, and fifty-two eagle boats. A world record for destroyer construction was made, the secretary said, in the building of the Reid at Squantum, Mass., in forty-five working days.

Appeals for Increased Pay.

Advocating temporary increases in pay of officers and enlisted men and increase in amounts allowed for commutation of quarters and other allowances, the report declared that high wages offered by the merchant marine and shore concerns was resulting in an abnormal number of resignations.

The navy has been demobilized from a war time strength of more than 500,000 officers and men to 122,000, of whom 5,000 are reserves, the report said, and enlisted men are badly needed to man the greatly increased seagoing establishment.

G. O. P. FIGURES, BURLESON REPLY TO STEENERSON

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—Postmaster General Burleson, replying today to a statement by Chairman Steenerson of the house postoffice committee attacking Mr. Burleson's annual report, said Mr. Steenerson "does not seem to understand that a postal audit is not made by the postmaster general but by an independent official of the treasury department, who happens to be a member of the Republican party, to which Mr. Steenerson belongs."

"As for the compensation allowed the railroads for mail transportation, this is fixed by the congress, and not by the postmaster general."

ASKS VETERANS TO GIVE HELP TO RISK BUREAU

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—A conference of importance to the millions of former service men and their relatives and dependents entitled to benefits under the war risk insurance act has been called by Director E. G. Cholmeley-Jones of the bureau of war risk insurance to meet in Washington Monday, Dec. 15, for a three days' session.

The purpose is to consider all matters affected by resolutions passed at the national convention of the legion concerning the relations of the bureau to former service men, and their beneficiaries and dependents.

MANTUA, ITALY, SACKED BY MOB IN 2 DAYS' RIOTS

Eight Killed, Forty-two Wounded in Clash with Troops.

ROME, Dec. 6.—Delayed.—[By the Associated Press.]—Eight persons are dead and forty-two others are known to have been wounded as a result of the rioting on Wednesday and Thursday at Mantua, where mobs terrorized the city.

The rioters attacked the small garrison, cut telegraph and telephone communications, stopped railway traffic, raided arms shops, burned prisons, freeing all sorts of criminals, and held the police and soldiers at bay until fresh troops and carabineers arrived with machine guns and occupied the city. The troops finally established order Thursday night.

Strikers Joined by Lawless.

The Rome newspapers tonight print full details of the situation at Mantua. The Giornale D'Italia says the Mantua chamber of labor authorized a strike without excesses. The disorders were begun by 500 strikers, who speedily were joined by the lawless element under the direction of extremists.

The crowds stormed the military barracks and fired on the garrison. The soldiers discouraged the attack by firing into the air. At the suggestion of some of the extremist leaders the mob moved on to the railway station and seized the restaurant, where they feasted and drank.

Mobs Tear Up Tracks.

The rails were torn up to prevent trains from entering or leaving the station and the building itself was badly wrecked. At the suggestion, "Let us burn the jails and free the prisoners," the mob moved to the prisons, overcame the guards, and ordered the astonished prisoners out, telling them a revolution had come and they were free. They were given arms seized from soldiers or taken from the looted arms shops.

The proprietor of one of the arms shops raided by the mob took refuge in a room behind the shop and was burned to death in the fire the mob set after taking all the revolvers, rifles, and ammunition in the store.

LAWS TOO LAX; CRIME THRIVES, PASTOR ASSERTS

"The fact that only two out of a hundred murderers are convicted in Chicago as against 95 out of a hundred in Germany, 85 in Spain, 72 in France, and 94 in London, is evidence that something is rotten either in our laws or in their enforcement," said the Rev. Austin Hunter, pastor of the Jackson Boulevard Christian church, last night. "The prevalence of crime, the perfect carnival of crime, is a reflection on our government.

"Our laws are too lax. Punishment is not severe enough. Furthermore, the administration of such laws as we have is frightfully inefficient. Our courts dilly-dally with cases until the possibility of obtaining justice is gone.

"Crime has fallen off since the elimination of the saloon, as is shown by the number of disorderly conduct cases. In July, 1918, there were 3,880 arrests, in 1919, only 2,712. In August, 1918, there were 4,179, as against 2,483 in the same month this year.

"One means of correcting crime conditions lies in electing good men to office regardless of party lines."

RIOTERS TERRORIZE ITALIAN CITIES

1—At least two persons were killed and more than fifty were wounded during a Socialist riot at Milan on Thursday. In addition, shops were looted.

2—Eight persons were slain and forty-two wounded during riots at Mantua on Wednesday and Thursday. The rioting resulted from a strike authorized by the Mantua chamber of labor. The rioting was started by 500 strikers, who were joined by the lawless elements. The city was sacked.

SUPREME COURT MAY DECIDE ON DRY LAW TODAY

If Unconstitutional Bars Expected to Open at Once.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—With wet interests and prohibition advocates throughout the nation awaiting the final verdict, the Supreme court of the United States is expected to hand down its decision tomorrow as to the constitutionality of the wartime dry law.

Reports here indicate that saloons throughout the country are ready to open the moment the verdict is known, if it favors the sale of intoxicants. Agents of liquor dealers will telegraph and telephone the result to their principals. If unfavorable, they will simply await the outcome of further litigation, which may drag on for months or years.

Agents Ready to Enforce It.

Attorney General Palmer and Revenue Commissioner Roper will earnestly enforce the law is the measure is upheld. The big wet interests, meantime, have arranged for a series of legal barrages which they hope will batter down the federal amendment.

Application for an injunction to forestall enforcement is the first step in their strategy. Enough suits will be filed in federal courts to get positive action along this line.

Rhode Island will swing its anti-enforcement battle directly into the Supreme court; the legislature has appropriated $5,000 to finance the fight.

Clear Decks for Action.

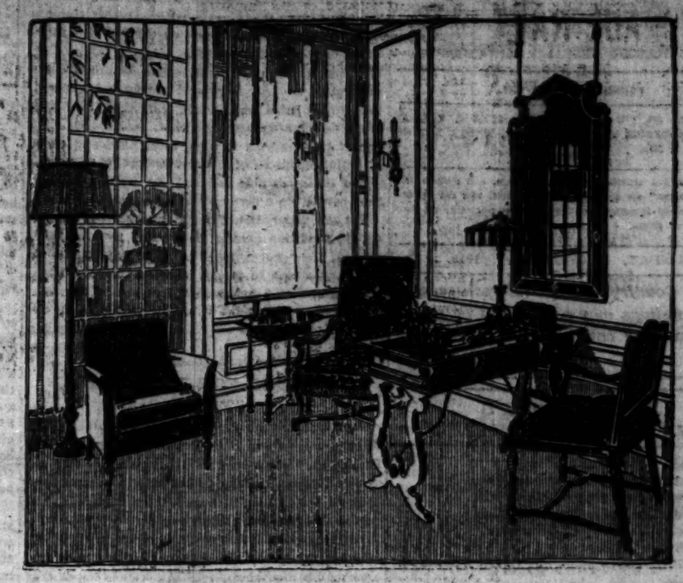

Arguments against the amendment will be made before the highest tribunal if appeals are granted, department of justice officials say in commenting on the Rhode Island plan of battle.

While the citizens of Ohio have set aside the action of the state legislature in approving the eighteenth amendment, these assistants of Mr. Palmer say that Secretary Lansing has only to reissue his official proclamation declaring the amendment valid and substitute the name of one of the other seven states. Forty-three legislatures approved the constitutional amendment, although only thirty-six were included in Mr. Lansing's manifesto.

To Spill 36,000,000 Gallons.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Standing on sidings near bonded warehouses in Kentucky, 3,000 empty freight cars are awaiting to ship out the 36,500,000 gallons of whisky, valued at $360,000,000, in anticipation of railroad administration officials that the Supreme court tomorrow will lift the prohibition ban. These cars will be loaded as fast as revenue stamps can be handed out in the customs house.

COAL STRIKE ENDS.

The above sentence is pleasant. We hope it is true. We believe it is.

The government officials and the leaders of the miners have agreed, it is announced from Washington. It is understood that the operators will go along. Remain the miners themselves. Will they accept the terms agreed to by their leaders? If they won't, then the time has come to engage them in a fight to finish. That is flat, and on this proposition we believe the whole country is willing to go the limit. And fight will mean fight. Cold, famine, boycott, evictions, martial law—the whole works. We devoutly hope it won't be necessary.

A couple of professional politicians are entitled to the thanks of this community for their intelligent efforts to bring the coal famine to an end. We refer to Frank Lowden, governor of Illinois, and Roger Sullivan, Democratic "boss" of Cook county. Mr. Sullivan could talk to the folks at Washington because, under the unit rule, he will have one large delegation in his pocket at the next national convention. And, unless we are misinformed, he talked very convincingly. These two politicians showed considerable "savvy."

In regard to the labor situation as well as other things, we seem to be entering a new era. We almost always are, and almost always have been, for that matter. The public must learn better how to protect itself. One of the best ways to protect itself is to know when to fight and when to compromise.

Also it should not be led into thinking that the unions are always wrong, any more than it should be led into thinking that they are never wrong. It should not be rattled by the clamor which always breaks out at the first sign of trouble, from extremists on both sides, "to fight it out to a finish once and for all." Fighting it out to a finish, literally, would result in a dictatorship of the plutocracy or a dictatorship of the "proletariat," meaning labor politicians. The public would suffer under either.

What, then, is this public which is so easy to talk about and so hard to define? The public varies in its composition, but is always in vast majority. When there is a coal strike, street car conductors and motormen are part of the public. When there is a street car strike in a coal town, the miners are part of the public.

So let us all wish ourselves and each other a merry Christmas. We apparently have more chance to get it now than we had forty-eight hours ago. And if we can't always be good-tempered about these various crises that keep arriving and departing, let us be as good-tempered as we can. After all, the substance of life is just one darn crisis after another.

PREPAREDNESS IN THE AIR.

By way of expressing the obvious British thought, tradition, and policy, Lord Northcliffe, a year ago, said in effect that Britain holds the mastery of the seas; must now proceed to the mastery of the air.

This is not a suggestion that the United States should fly to combat that mastery. It is evidence that ordinary efficiency on land and sea no longer is sufficient participation in the world's affairs. Neglect of aircraft inevitably will subordinate the passive nation to a point where its armament is comparable to the caravels of Columbus.

We emerged from the war with a substantial aircraft organization. In a few months it has been reduced to junk. The appropriations of congress have been sufficient only to maintain the absurdly small peacetime organization without the slightest provision for the most ordinary experimentation and research.

Our program holds out no hope for individual genius. Instead of inviting mechanical minds to devote themselves to invention we stop the machinery and let cobwebs gather. Our sole prospect lies in the irrepressible energy of patriotic scientists who labor for love.

Perhaps we shall not need airships this month or next. But when we do need them we shall discover to our grief that the airship of the moment is not to be turned out of nothing, like a rabbit from a magician's hat, but is the product of patient experimentation, step by step, each new model completely invalidating the one before. . . will be wheelbarrows against Twentieth Century limiteds.

PRESSURE ON GERMANY.

The American public, we think, will find it rather difficult to understand why the sinking of the German fleet should be held to justify a military advance of the allies farther into German territory.

By that sort of logic, the destruction of the Essen works might bring about an expedition to Berlin. If the Germans had sailed the fleet out of Scapa Flow back to Bremerhaven, we could accept this as a threatening and provocative act; but not the fleet's destruction, especially as it leaves Britannia unchallenged as ever as mistress of the seas.

Neither will Americans, except extremists, sympathize much with the demand that Germany surrender more of her already drastically reduced merchant shipping because warships delivered to the allies were made away with. In this country it is not considered wise, and we think a very influential body of British opinion is of the same mind, to overwhelm the German people or prevent the restoration of their industrial and financial health. We cannot take seriously a fear that they will begin another war now or that, depleted as they are at this time as to men, munitions, and other essential resources of modern warfare, to say nothing of their unstable political and social condition, they constitute a serious threat to France.

We can make allowance for an abnormal psychological condition among the French, yet the tendency of their government to go to extremes with Germany seems to us one which will produce unfortunate effects, postpone the return of that stabilization of European relations which is so urgently sought by us all, and prepare the way for another war.

A REGENT FOR THE UNITED STATES.

President Wilson gave a forty-five minute conference to Senator Fall, Republican, and Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Friday afternoon. They sat at his bedside and he talked with the alertness, they reported later, of a man conversant with situations and mentally competent.

Dr. Grayson's reticence had promoted the circulation of reports that the president's illness had affected his mental ability. Americans hoped that was not true, did not believe it was true, and are glad to have a competent assurance that it is not true.

Mr. Wilson is, however, physically disabled. The conference he had with the two senators delegated by the senate for this purpose was one of the few contacts if not the first contact the president has had with the functions of government for ten weeks.

In these ten weeks, with the president in bed and not able to act, the nation has had the peace treaty controversy and the coal strike and has approached war with Mexico.

In this time the nation has been without a head and it is now without an authority which can make decisions. Mr. Wilson's government has been notoriously a one man government. It has been said by his opponents and admitted by his friends that he did not require and would not have in the executive government men to whose opinions he would give attention.

He was the government. He decided. His subordinates heard his decisions and carried them out. This did not prepare the cabinet members and other government officials for ten weeks of divorce from the head of their inspiration.

Mr. Wilson went to Paris and carried the seat of American government there. He has gone to bed and has carried it there. He is physically unable to meet the requirements of the presidency. We hope he will be able in a short time, but the American nation needs a head now.

When Roosevelt went to Panama he left Taft, secretary of war, in charge in Washington. He in Panama was much closer in touch with American conditions than Mr. Wilson was in Paris or than he is now in bed, and then we did not have the wreck of one war to clean up, the threat of another war, and the fact of a coal strike.

He understood that the nation has executive authority because it must have it and he, going merely to Panama, left a regent. The nation needs a regent now. Mr. Wilson, mentally alert, ought to see this need himself and designate a cabinet member to act until he is able to return to his duties.

OUR STANDING IN MEXICO.

China	417	Great Britain	38
UNITED STATES	317	Italy	16
Spain	209	France	14
Arabia	111	Japan	10

The standing is in killings. We are not crowding the Chinese but we are running well ahead of the Arabians, and our four great allies are so distanced that even if the Mexicans applied the murder a day principle to them they would be hopeless.

We believe the Mexicans do wrong to kill Chinese and Americans. The Chinese are the only good cooks in Mexico, where a good cook ought to be protected, because he is needed. If the Mexicans had good cooking they might be better ordered. There is nothing like the prospect of a square meal to tame the disorders of the mind. We believe Mexicans are wrong when they kill Americans. If they would allow Americans to help develop their resources there might be something for the Chinese to cook.

However, the Mexicans think differently, and thus far they have been the bosses. In the meanwhile, Mr. Jenkins, the disturbing consul, has been released after having offended the Mexican government, both in Puebla and in the republic, grievously. He was robbed, kidnaped, paid ransom, jailed, would not give bail, and annoyed the Mexicans in a general fashion highly reprehensible. It is a wonder he was not shot as a nuisance.

Mr. Wallace, the mining engineer who was killed, a man of responsible position and reputable character, seems, from the Mexican report, to have committed suicide, also in a reprehensible manner. He got into a quarrel with a machine gun, he picking the fight, although the machine gun used the greatest tolerance and good nature as long as possible.

In the end a machine gun will defend itself, and it did. The strange behavior of Mr. Wallace cannot be explained, because he is dead. We have only the testimony of the Mexicans. They say the machine gun repeatedly offered to mediate.

THE UNDER DOG AND THE MORNING EGG.

[Spokane Spokesman-Review.]

The professors of the Carnegie Institute of Technology complain that they are unable, so low are their wages, to afford eggs for breakfast. This is a distinction that is not confined to professors. There are millions of Americans who wear white collars to their daily work who cannot afford eggs for breakfast, and there are a good many of them who have not dallied with a fresh egg since before the war. They are classed as "brain workers," they are underpaid because they have no coercive organization, and they are the real proletariat of today.

The coming of the holiday season will see the manual laborer, skilled or unskilled, planning repasts of fowl and rich pastry, while the professor, the lawyer, the office worker, and the clergyman open cans of corned beef and warm over yesterday's baked beans. The miner and the factory hand array themselves for the festive season in striped shirts of heavy silk and rich brown shoes of fabulous price, but the clerk amputates the fringe from his three year old overcoat and the stenographer performs miracles of alteration with a superannuated toque.

Trouble is brewing. We live on a simmering volcano. The day will come when the downtrodden bourgeoisie will rise in all its might, and then the haughty working class had better beware.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

DR. RASCOE reports an impending book, "The Mystery of Space," which is to "make the new theories clear to the man in the street." Of course, it will do nothing of the sort. The man in the street is presumed to have an average mind, but even the commonplaces of mathematics are beyond an intelligence much above the average, unless it happen to be a mathematical intelligence. It is a question of kind of mind, not quality of mind. To young Isaac Newton, Euclid and Descartes were as easy going as Mother Goose's Melodies.

NEWTON was inspired, according to tradition, by seeing an apple fall; at least the tree was preserved for a long time. Dr. Einstein, it appears, was inspired by seeing a man fall off a roof. The falling apple suggested gravitation to Newton; the falling man suggested dittorm motion to Einstein. But the falling objects that interest the average intelligence are Chaplin pies and the sinks that fall through the margins of back-page comics. To the average citizen, worthy man though he be, thought is as painful as lumbago, and much more dangerous.

IT is possible to enjoy a thing without understanding it; in fact, much art is enjoyed that way. As for metaphysics, we have waded through volumes of the stuff in the belief that it meant something, if only we could get a clue to it; we used to have more time to waste that way. But even now we can read a column or two about a match at court tennis, without knowing the difference between a dedan and a tambour, or a grille, or a penthouse roof. It interests us to learn that Mr. Jay Gould utilized the tambour for bewildering nicks, although, paradoxically, we nicks verstehen; and to read of a convincing kill through the dedans moves us almost to cheers.

Would They, Do You Think, Laugh at This in Vaudeville?

[From a London dispatch.]

Sir J. J. Thomson, Master of Trinity, in moving a vote of thanks made a humorous reference to the new theory. He said he dared say that a tutor who preferred rooms on the ground floor to the attic would hardly be consoled to know that the higher he was up the more Euclidean his space became because it was further from the effects of gravitation.

"WE especially recommend," concludes a circular letter, "the Boreham books of sermons. An Australian preacher with a new style. Try one of his books and you will quickly join the ranks of Borehamites." We commend this bit of subtlety to the graduating class in wheezology.

Dishes washed and put away,
When the rugs are swept and beaten,
Rooms are dusted for the day;
When the kiddies, scrubbed and splendid,
Start for school with merry cries,
When the stockings are all mended,
And the bread is set to rise;
When I've finished up some dresses
For the children and for me,
When I've cooked some dainty messes
For their luncheon and for tea;
When I've done my daily buying
At the "cash and carry" store,
When the clothes are gayly drying
Just outside the laundry door;
When the telephone's insistence
Is met fifty times or so,
And I've covered miles of distance
From the door-bell to and fro;
When I've shaken down the heater,
Sifted ashes, carried coal,
Swept the walks till they look neater;
Read the minutes, called the roll,
At a Parent-Teachers' sitting,
Calmed a local club-room spat,
"Toed" a pair of socks I'm knitting,
Washed the dog and fed the cat;
Spaded up the hardy border,
Set my tulip bulbs for spring,
Put the pantry shelves in order,
Planned my dinner, 'n' everything,
Then I brush and curry "Lizzie"
Till her hood and spark-plugs shine—
And, when I'm not very busy,
I write verses for the Line. IRIS.

A regrettable occurrence during the play last evening, which came as a complete surprise to the audience as well as the cast, was the action of a practical joker who threw four eggs at Dan Haas. Although it was done in the spirit of humor, it marred slightly an otherwise enjoyable evening. Mr. Haas, however, has taken the incident as it was intended, but regrets that it came so near to spoiling the evening.

WHAT ARE THEY DRINKING NOW?

WHILE aged I traveled from Oklahoma City to Tulsa on a night train and was kept awake by two noisy celebrants. The next morning the porter confided me with the information that our noisy friends were drinking cologne.

A Missouri editor asks for the composition of lemon extract, saying some of the people in his section are using it for booze. Lemon extract is 5 per cent lemon oil in 50 per cent alcohol. Whisky is 40 to 50 per cent alcohol.

The Chicago health department interment tells me that some confirmed booze fighters are fortifying temperance drinks with denatured alcohol and wood alcohol. One drug store keeps some formalin solution in a tumbler. When a person buys eight ounces of alcohol the clerk squirts in a medicine dropper full of the solution from the tumbler, puts on a poison label, turns the customer, and passes the bottle across the counter. Since formalin is volatile the solution in the tumbler gets weak and there is no taste or smell of formalin in the alcohol.

Wood alcohol carries a punch equal to that of grain alcohol. It is poisonous and whenever the druggist sells it he puts a poison label on the bottle. The newspapers say fourteen people have died in Chicago from wood alcohol poisoning since the authorities began tightening up.

However, this does not give any idea of the prevalence of the use of wood alcohol. The boozers see the poison label. They pour a little shot, but far less than a fatal dose, of wood alcohol into their temperance drink. They swallow the mixture. When they sober up and find they are not dead, they think the poison label is a lie. So they take another drink. Occasionally they keep it up until they get a fatal dose. More frequently they stop short of a fatal dose, but take enough to bring about other harmful effects of the drug.

Even though a man gets drunk on cologne, bay rum, patent medicine, lemon extract, denatured alcohol or wood alcohol and surprises himself by not dying and loses all faith in poison labels, he does not go scot free. If a man will stick to some of these substitutes and "kick providers" for a few months he will find out that he was unlucky when he did not die as the poison label told him he would.

I am not at all disturbed about this information. I have seen communities sober up and I know they also have their katzenjammer. When the regular supply shuts down or the price goes out of reach, there is a group of addicts who will get their drug regardless of law, even regardless of personal risk. Not very much can be done about this group of people.

Fortunately for the community they do not last very long. Some wink out rapidly, some slowly, but the drug gets them all before long.

In the meantime their influence for harm so far as other men are concerned, is not great. There is nothing heroic or appealing about a man drunk on cologne. They do not write piety, indulge in oratorical flights or do heroic deeds. They generally fall down somewhere and sleep it off and time gradually brings a new order.

BABIES NOT ALL ALIKE.

C. writes: "1. Our baby, 16 months old, has been brought up strictly as outlined in Dr. Holt's 'Care and Feeding of Children,' and is in the pink of condition, with normal weight and measurements, etc. She always has been. This apparently would indicate that Dr. Holt's methods are excellent. Why, then, the discrepancy between Dr. Holt's system of feeding and the Minnesota system?

2. Our baby will be 2 years old in the early summer. Will it harm her, if perfectly well, to be taught to swim in Minnesota lakes later in the summer?

3. Have followed your advice relative to brushing and washing hair to stop it coming out. This has helped, but not entirely eliminated the difficulty. Is there anything else that not only will entirely stop the hair from coming out, but also make it come in?"

REPLY.

1. Babies operate under laws having a good deal of leeway. They thrive when fed almost, but not altogether right. The Holt methods are standard. Some mothers now twisting their babies up on Holt were themselves brought up the Holt way. Nevertheless, I have always regarded the Holt method as too complicated. The tendency now is toward simpler methods of feeding and less milk per day than Holt advised.

2. No.

3. Try rubbing a little oil on the scalp after each washing.

HATES NOT FOR THIS CASE.

C. J. S. writes: 1. I have had rheumatism for thirteen years. I am 34 years old. I have been to Mount Clemens, Hot Springs, Ark., and Martinsville, Ind., but got no results. Wassermann test negative. Doctors have treated me for neuritis, arthritis, and rheumatism, but I am no better. Am very nervous at times and my digestion is poor. I do not eat breakfast, eat light lunch, and take a quart of warm milk for supper. I drink a cup of warm water and wash my teeth soon as I get up. Can you suggest anything?

2. Where can I get a book telling what one should eat who has indigestion?

REPLY.

1. If you have any form of rheumatoid arthritis no baths, mineral springs, diet or ordinary medical treatment will cure you. Your hope lies in finding and removing your focus of infection and possibly the use of an appropriate vaccine.

2. Strouse & Perry or Proudfit.

TELLS VARYING STORIES.

J. C. R. writes: "Please explain about 'Arcus Senilis.' Is it an indication of degeneration in other parts of the body? Is it likely to impair vision?"

REPLY.

Arcus senilis is the band noted around the colored part of the eyes of some elderly people. As the name implies it is attributed to senility. It does not impair vision. The supposition is that a person with a good deal of arcus senilis will show a good deal of wear in his arteries and possibly also in other organs. It is not a very accurate sign. Some people wear out without showing arcus senilis and some persons with it show little other evidence of age.

THE FRIEND OF THE SOLDIER

The Friend of the Soldier will cooperate with the war risk insurance bureau of the treasury department, 1807 Stock Exchange building, Chicago, and with the committee of the Chicago Bar association on legal assistance to soldiers and sailors, 105 West Monroe street.

Address inquiries to Friend of the Soldier, Chicago Tribune. Answers to as many as possible will be published in this department. To insure a personal reply an addressed and stamped envelope should be inclosed.

No attention will be paid to anonymous letters.

GERMAN BOAT.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., Dec. 5.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Can you tell me in your paper where the U. S. S. Imperator was on Nov. 11, 1918? E. W. K.

The United States navy department reports that this boat was stranded near the Kiel canal at the time you mention. You doubtless know that it belonged to the German government and was one of the boats turned over to the United States in accordance with the stipulation of the protocol.

UNCERTAINTIES OF CONFIRMATION.

Laporte, Ind., Dec. 4.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—On June 1, 1918, I enlisted in the U. S. N. R. F. as an apprentice seaman and served until Jan. 7, 1919, when I was mustered out. While in the service I took examinations for both third and second class storekeeper and passed. Was given the rating, and it was placed on my service record. Am I confirmed in my rating? If so, to whom do I apply for the payments of two months? C.

The fact that you took examination for the rating of storekeeper third and second classes and passed for both does not mean that you are confirmed, even though entry was made in your service record to that effect and your rating was actually changed, as advancement in rating is entirely separate and distinct. However, reservists' rating may be confirmed after passing examination for advancement, but a separate entry in the service record must be made to that effect, showing that confirmation was actually made as of a certain date; this date does not necessarily have to be the same as advancement in rating. Reservists may take examination for confirmation in rating at any time that he is on active duty.

If entry was made in your service record of the confirmation of your rating, you are confirmed. We suggest that you communicate with your district commandant regarding your retainer pay and request the information. It will not be necessary for you to write to the bureau of supplies and accounts or the district commandant about your retainer pay, as this is handled by the supplies and accounts section. Those entitled to two months' pay receive this quarterly and the checks are mailed when due. The $15 retainer pay is sent annually.

ANOTHER RESERVIST.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I enlisted as a third class yeoman in the U. S. N. R. F. May, 1918. I took my examinations and passed in my rating about October, 1918, and was reconfirmed about the middle of January, 1919. Then I was released from active duty on Jan. 28, 1919. At what time does my retainer pay start? How much will I receive up to June 30, 1919? How much should be paid to me from that date until Sept. 30, 1919? To whom shall I appeal in case of error? S.

Your retainer pay starts from date of enrollment. Prior to confirmation in rating you were entitled to $12 a year, and after your rating was confirmed you receive two months' base pay per annum of your rating. Those entitled to $12 per year are paid annually and those entitled to the two months' base pay are paid quarterly. Payments are made by the bureau of supplies and accounts, retainer pay section, navy department, Washington, D. C. In case of error in pay, apply to that office.

From the above information you will have no difficulty in calculating the amount of pay due you for the period mentioned.

MAY NAME PROVISIONAL BENEFICIARY.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Before I convert my insurance I should like to ask a question or two about my beneficiary. I know that the insured may name more than one beneficiary, but that is not what I want to do. I wish to name only one beneficiary, that is, leave the whole amount of my insurance to one person, but I should also like to add that in case of death of this beneficiary the money be paid to another specific person. Sort of an emergency beneficiary. Can it be done? K.

Yes. Specify in your application for your converted policy when writing to the bureau of war risk insurance that you desire a certain specified beneficiary within the permitted class of beneficiaries to receive any installments remaining due after death of the original beneficiary.

PAY OF PRISONER.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I was in the army in France and was in a German prison camp for several months. While I was there I received no pay from the German government nor our own. After I returned to our own forces they told me that according to army regulations they could not pay me, but could not tell me where to write to have the matter straightened out. I surely think that I have some money coming from somewhere. What would you advise me to do? Is there any department in Washington that would look into this for me? G. O.

File an affidavit with the director of finance, Washington, D. C., setting forth the facts as to date of imprisonment and date of release, date of pay which you received before imprisonment, and the date when your pay was resumed. Give all identifying information. It will doubtless take some time for a thorough investigation and adjustment to be made.

INSURANCE REINSTATEMENT.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—My insurance from the war has not been paid since I left the army, which was about six months ago. I am very sorry that I let it drop, but the men in my office claim that I can start it again by paying for only two months. Will you please let me know if it is possible for me to get this insurance again after it has not been paid for so long? F. D. A.

Yes, you may reinstate your insurance by paying premium for the month of grace and also for the current month. As you live in the city, we advise that you have reinstatement of your insurance handled by the local war risk insurance bureau; address given at the top of this column. That office is in a position to convert and reinstate insurance.

CLEAR CASE

[From London Opinion.]

Magistrate: "On your last offense I fined you seven shillings and sixpence; this time I fine you twenty-one shillings."

Prisoner: "Well, that's what I call profiteering, m'lud!—an' I shall report this 'ere case to our local committee."

HE IS NOT "NEATNESS PERSONIFIED."

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(To the Friend of the People.)—At Thirty-ninth and Vincennes a man runs a small combination hardware and notion store. He habitually throws all waste paper, wrappings, straw and excelsior in which goods he receives are packed and other rubbish in back yard. I live next door. When there is any wind this accumulation of rubbish blows over in our yard, soiling clothes which are drying on wash day, causing considerable inconvenience. At other times, aside from this, there frequently are boys playing in this man's yard who might light a match and set this rubbish afire, which would spread rapidly. Can you investigate this and do what is possible, please? We shall appreciate your assistance very much.

H. W. B.

Notice has been served on Mrs. Olsen, owner of the premises at Thirty-ninth and Vincennes avenue, to put up a new fence and provide cans for waste, and she has agreed to comply.

The tenant denies throwing out paper, etc. When the fence is up and cans are provided there should be no further cause for complaint. THOS. H. BYRNE,
Superintendent of Streets.

CHANCE FOR MORE FUEL.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—Is there any way I can make a neighbor cut off part of a big willow tree in his back yard, as the limbs hang over my roof and the small branches and leaves fill up my rain spouts and gutter so that I have to clean them out four or five times a year. About two weeks ago I cleaned out all the leaves and now it is full of branches again, and I am afraid a big windstorm may break off a big branch and go through my roof. In case it should smash my roof is he liable for the damages? P. A. G.

You can cut the branches extending over your property at your line. If the tree is in a condition that would make it liable to fall in a storm, and the owner of the tree knows it, he would be liable.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WHERE AM I?

Chicago, Dec. 2.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Strange as my request may appear, it still is true that I have lived on a street in Chicago for thirty-one years and must come to you for information as to the correct name of this street. On the sign on the corner it is given as Forty-sixth street; mail addressed to us that way is always changed by the postal department to Forty-sixth place. In the city directory in the drug store at Forty-seventh and Princeton our name and number appear on Sixty-fourth place. For further information I will say it is the second street north of Forty-seventh street, east of Wentworth avenue.

Kindly aid us in straightening this out, as it gives great annoyance to strangers and delivery wagon drivers.

W. 46TH WHAT.

In answer to your letter addressed to The Chicago Tribune with reference to the correct name of the street on which you reside, would say that it is West Forty-sixth place.

Apparently the street sign to which you refer is incorrect and the bureau of streets, which bureau has charge of the street signs, has been notified of the error.

SUPERINTENDENT OF MAPS.

DOESN'T LIKE THE IN-LAWS.

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 6.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A young woman with a 4 months old baby has left her husband and gone back to the work which she did before the child was born, her husband being unwilling to support her and the child unless they live with his parents, which the young woman does not think is the proper environment for the child, and will not stay. She desires a legal separation, but feels that the husband should contribute to the support of the child.

Can she obtain the divorce? Must the husband contribute to the child's support? C. M.

If the wife left solely on the ground stated, she could get get a divorce on ground of desertion. If the husband is drafted and the wife is awarded the custody of the child, she might get support for the child from the father.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

As but limited space can be given letters in this department, writers must confine themselves to 300 or 500 words. Unless they give us their full names and addresses their letters will not be considered. No manuscript will be returned unless the writer sends postage for that purpose.

WE'LL WATCH OUR STEP.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I don't blame any one to uphold the character of one of his country's own citizens. But I find a lack of sportsmanship in a citizen of that country to waste over four inches of paper in writing in the editorial section of a well known newspaper a criticism of two foreign boxers and calling them bums. He must have an awful pull to keep his job as an editorial writer. In upholding "Gentleman Dempsey," as he calls the actual heavyweight champion, and calling the other two fighters "bums," he seems to forget the fact that the other two "bums" did not forget to grab a gun instead of a glove to fight the Germans during the war. If they were "bums" before the war, they are heroes now. "Gentleman Dempsey," it seems, took an awful chance during all that time; he made a lot of exhibitions, got a few punches, maybe, but never faced a gun—except, perhaps, when he was stealing rides on American railroads.

It can't be possible that this wonderful "editorial writer" has American blood running through his veins, when he dares to insult two men who have thoroughly served their country for over four years. I am a Frenchman, and I have been twenty years in this country. I admire sport, having done quite a lot of it myself. I think that Dempsey is a great fighter; so is Carpentier and so is Beckett. I don't think that jealousy should at any time interfere with clean and sane judgment of a man's criticism, and especially go as far as calling two clean fighters as these two foreigners "bums." If Dempsey is a better man he will have a chance to show it, and Englishmen, Frenchmen and others will be glad to see the best man win. He is champion now, but who can say that he would be a champion if that "easy-to-get-away" decision of drawing the color line did not exist?

The "editorial writer" should know, and, if he does not know, some one ought to tell him, that it's awful bad manners to call any one a "bum," and more so when you are speaking about two men who have fought for their country. And, besides, being a Frenchman, I may some day meet this gentleman "editorial writer," and I feel that I would be very sore, indeed, if he were to call Carpentier a "bum," and—well, what's the use to worry!

You claim that socialism would destroy the incentive to produce. What has become of the incentive of capitalism? W. V. L.

WE ALSO URGE SKID CHAINS.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I usually read THE TRIBUNE with a feeling of strong indignation, but yesterday morning it gave me some amusement. This amusement was caused by the picture in "The Tiny Tribune" depicting the "nonessential citizen" who neglects to clean the snow from his sidewalk. The reason for the amusement was the exhibition of THE TRIBUNE'S inconsistency. It believes in public spiritedness in little, neighborly things like clearing the snow from the sidewalk, but its vision is so narrow that it cannot see beyond a most limited horizon. In national and international affairs it insists on personal liberty in spite of its neighbors. What is the prohibition movement except a clearing of the snow from one of our national sidewalks, making the travel easy and safe for our citizens? What is the league of nations covenant except a law to enforce the clearing of the snow from an international sidewalk, making it possible for each nation to travel in safety, and providing a means to force each to clear his part? STUART WELLER,
University of Chicago.

FOR THE LEAGUE.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Col. R. R. McCormick made very clear in his special cable of Dec. 3 that peace in Europe cannot be maintained without the help of the United States. We spent our treasure freely, in money and lives, to secure peace in Europe. As a business proposition it is better to help maintain it than to allow another conflagration to break out which we shall have to help extinguish at enormous cost. "Safety First" is the motto now with all well conducted enterprises. Col. McCormick's cablegram is an unanswerable argument in favor of the league of nations. E. M. G.

SETTLE THE STRIKE.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Is THE TRIBUNE losing the courage and fearlessness in fighting for the right that characterized it under Medill, in Lincoln's time?

It looks like it. Your daily calling for a settlement of the coal strike smacks of cowardice—of Johnny hollering for ma.

It is not the ringing word of a paper that knows the remedy and dares point it out.

AWFUL EFFECTS OF H. C. L.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The H. C. L., it makes him feel that he must eat his orange peel, his cabbage stump, and carrot top, and anything that tends to stop that hunger in the inner man, who gets as hungry as he can, then rushes to a quick lunch place, and there he tries to feed his face. He gets enough to feed a wren, and vows he'll not go there again. The price for all was just six bits, and threw him less seven fits. H. P. S.

POLITICAL PARTY STRIKE PERILS ROUMANIA KING

Militaristic Elections Rouse Socialists to Threats.

BY THOMAS STEWART RYAN.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

BUCHAREST, Dec. 7.—A big political party in Roumania is out on a strike. The strike began in the elections of Nov. 2, 3, and 4 and was called by the growing Socialist party, composed of syndicalists, and especially of oil workers.

The country is split into two hostile political camps. In the one are the Liberal party under M. Bratiano, former prime minister, and the old Conservative party, so-called Germanophile, under M. Marghiloman, who was prime minister during the German occupation. They have no formal alliance, for Marghiloman is discredited as a friend of the enemy, but they stand together broadly on policy. In the opposite camp are the Democrats, led by Take Jonescu and Gen. Averesco, and the Socialists. This faction protested against the elections.

The burning question that divided Liberals and Democrats was this: Does Roumania accept the peace treaty as drawn up in Paris, or does she stand out against it, thereby risking the allies' bad will? The Democrats said, "Ratify." The Liberals said, "Hold out."

Besides her territorial complaints, Roumania is balking at the "minority clause," which obliges the "heirs of Austria" to grant special rights to racial minorities. In Roumania the chief minority is the Jews.

But a wrangle over home policy is making the coffee houses buzz even more than the treaty squabble. This involves a recent change in the cabinet when the Democrats asked for a premier not twined in politics.

Ferdinand refused, choosing Gen. Vaitoiano, Bratiano's old minister of war, who, in turn, chose five other generals for his cabinet, so that a military régime ruled the country at the time of the elections. Political offenders were tried by court martial, not by civil tribunals.

The king has thus roused the Democrats and is tolerated, they say, only so far as he keeps out of politics.

FIREMEN ESCAPE AS WALL DROPS AT LOOP BLAZE

Slide 4 Floors to Ground at Warning Cry; Damage Reaches $50,000.

Chicago's light restricted loop was enlivened for an hour last night when a fire damaged the four story brick structure at 321 West Lake street, occupied by the Thompson-Ehlers Leather company. Fire Marshal Thomas O'Connor estimated the loss at $50,000.

The blaze started next door in the basement of the J. S. Hoffman company, according to a watchman who turned in the alarm.

Firemen of Engine company No. 17 soon found the job too big for them and a 4-11 alarm finally was turned in. The firemen entered the building, but could not make any headway on account of the dense smoke. Several slid down the hose from the roof at a cry that the walls were falling in.

A few minutes after the firemen had left the building the rear wall crashed down and the roof caved in.

Five streams playing on the front of the building from under the elevated structure and several more directed from the alley had the fire under control within a short time.

The cause of the fire is unknown.

PASTOR RESIGNS FOR NEW POST.

The Rev. Charles B. Althoff read his resignation as pastor yesterday morning to the congregation of the Lorimer Memorial Baptist church, Seventy-third street and St. Lawrence avenue. On the first of the year he will assume the field secretaryship of the stewardship department of the Interchurch World Movement of North America, with headquarters in New York.

$1,000 IN CLOTH, $500 IN LIQUOR, LOOT OF ROBBERS

Four men in an automobile took $500 worth of liquor from the La Salle Steel company plant after binding David R. Lees, night watchman. It belonged to a member of the firm.

Jewelry amounting in value to more than $500, fifteen quarts of bourbon, and ten pounds of sugar were taken from the home of Mrs. M. L. Schaub, 6346 Normal avenue, while she was away visiting.

Victims of street holdups were reported as follows: Richard V. Putkamer, 521 Surf street; Frank Schuster, 416 Surf street; four men in an auto; C. F. Burgess, 37 West Twenty-sixth street, Chicago Heights; Christopher Steiner, 2057 Edgewood avenue; Miss Agnes Mathews, 5065 West Monroe street. Only small sums were obtained in each instance.

Black Hand Gang Kills Pair Home from Wedding

Pueblo, Colo., Dec. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Pusateri were shot and killed and their 12 year old daughter, Angina, was seriously wounded near their home tonight. Three other children escaped.

The shooting took place this evening when the family was returning from a wedding. Two men, supposed by the police to be members of a Black Hand gang, followed the family home, according to the children.

KNOX

NO KNOX novelty of recent years has created more of a stir than the Leland, the soft felt hat with the stitched brim.

The bow in the back gives the Leland a jaunty appearance, and the stitched brim holds its shape firmly—but neither is offensive to the most critical taste.

Economy and Fur Coats

As Christmas Gifts

A FUR COAT will undoubtedly prove to be a most practical and economical gift. And a Fur Coat from Bishop's will have an added appeal because of its luxurious styling and exquisite qualities.

Bishop is offering these exceptionally smart fur coats at prices that you will instantly appreciate as remarkable values.

These coats are fashion's most favored styles—the loose flare back with its graceful swing, some self-trimmed models, others with collars and cuffs of contrasting fur.

The vogue of the short Fur Coat, the short plaid wool skirt, Oxfords and sporty woolen hose continues to be Winter's smartest toggery. It's a costume that is youthful, practical and becoming, and naturally the most important part of this chic cold weather wardrobe is the fur coat. It must be short and jaunty. Miss Chicago insists upon her coat being smart, and to find just the style she wants she comes to Bishop's.

Every coat bears the Bishop label—the purchaser's guarantee that the quality of fur is the very best obtainable and the positive assurance that the style is authentic.

Capes and Scarfs Are Quite the Vogue to wear over winter coats and suits during this brisk, sharp weather. Our showing is very extensive, including such wanted furs as Skunk (brown Marten), Mink, Fox, Wolf, Hudson Seal (Seal dyed Musquash), Squirrel, and others. The prices are unusually attractive and present remarkable economies.

USES KNIFE FOR TOUGH STEAK TO CUT CELL BARS

Edward Thorpe, ex-convict, being held at the East Chicago avenue station as the leader of a band that is said to have stolen more than $200,000 worth of furs and automobiles, asked for and got a steel knife Saturday night with which to dissect his dinner meat. It was an "extra" utensil and not missed when the dishes were removed from the cell later in the evening.

Yesterday morning Acting Detective Sergeant John Quinn entered the cellroom where Thorpe was confined. Quinn had questions to ask. Thorpe appeared to be sleeping. Quinn kicked at the bars of the cell door and his foot dislodged one of the steel rods.

Knife Made Into Crude Saw.

Thorpe's cell was searched and the table knife, nicked to make a crude saw, was discovered. A second bar had been cut through in one place. About two minutes' work would have finished the other end, the removal of the two bars making a space large enough for the prisoner to have squeezed through.

Police point out that Thorpe, having escaped from the cell, could have exited behind an inner wooden door to the cellroom until the lockup keeper opened the grated door to enter, and then attacked the officer with one of the cell door rods. Escape would have been easy with the cellroom doors opened.

Thorpe admitted to Sergt. Pat Hamilton, who caused his arrest, that he was endeavoring to escape.

Find More Stolen Autos.

During the day Hamilton's squad raided the garage of a member of the gang in Gary and found three more stolen automobiles. They also announced that members of the gang had confessed to three stickups.

Thorpe was taken back to the Hudson avenue station. Instead of steak, soup is scheduled for his meals at Hudson avenue.

NEWSBOY DIES OF INJURIES CAUSED BY MOTOR TRUCK

Deaths in Chicago by Automobiles in 1919 to date: 385

Louis Fabbro, a newsboy, 17 years old, 4947 West Fourteenth place, Cicero, died in St. Anthony's hospital early yesterday from injuries received when he was run over by an automobile truck at Roosevelt road and Crawford avenue.

The boy had a news stand at the corner. When a truck driven by Joseph Buckalso, 1415 South Fiftieth avenue, Cicero, came along he dropped his papers and attempted to climb onto the moving machine, but fell, and the rear wheel passed over his body.

"TYPHOID MARY" GAINS A FRIEND

The American Medical Liberty league yesterday started an investigation of the case of Mary Burke, "Typhoid Mary," charged with being a chronic typhoid fever carrier by Dr. H. N. Bundesen of the health department.

Dr. H. W. Pierson, national treasurer of the league, said a thorough investigation would be made to determine whether the health department has made a justifiable charge. "We have investigated several cases in which the department has charged some one with being a chronic disease carrier," he said, "and found there was no ground for the charge.

"The department has had too much police power."

ARREST 4 PALS AS MURDERERS OF HOLDUP MAN

MURDERS in Chicago This Year 301

With the arrest yesterday of four police characters by the homicide squad Detective Sergeant John Norton believes he has the murderer of Johnny Murphy, a robber who was slain by one of his pals early yesterday morning when he attempted to hold up George Simpson at Wilson avenue and Dover street.

Murphy was killed by a bullet fired by a person in a brown automobile which he had left a short time before to hold up Simpson. The shot was evidently intended for Simpson, who is a former Australian soldier, and was besting the bandit.

By a card in his pocket Murphy was identified. A search of the bureau records revealed the haunts of Murphy, and the homicide squad was sent along North Clark street to round up the bandit's pals. Four were captured in hotels in the vicinity of North Clark and Huron streets.

Eddie "Pinkey" Pinkerton, reported as one of those taken into custody, is said to have been seen in Murphy's company on several occasions. Jack Brady and Frank Balaska also are alleged to have been associated with Pinkerton and Murphy.

Murphy, according to the police, is a character with a number of arrests and convictions against him. He recently was released from Joliet penitentiary.

Miss Edith Morrison, 812 Eastwood avenue was robbed of a $275 fur coat by four men in a brown automobile a short time before Murphy was killed.

Percy Coffin May Escape Trip and Keep Up Probe

Capt. Percy Coffin, who was slated to go with a group of aldermen to Washington, believes now he may get out of it as the party—because of the coal conservation edict—is to be cut in half. Capt. Coffin, who is head of the civil service commission, wants to go on with the police investigation, and feels that he couldn't afford the time to go to Washington. For instance, there will be a conference Tuesday at which the investigation of inefficiency charges against the detective bureau will begin. The aldermen purposed going to Washington to get the 1920 Republican convention for Chicago.

INTERNATIONAL BOY SCOUT MEET.

Collapses in Saloon After Drinking Ether and Alcohol

Alex Roska walked into a saloon yesterday afternoon at 823 West Monroe street and ordered a bottle of near beer. He was seen to pull another bottle from his pocket and pour some of the contents into the near beer. After drinking the mixture Roska fell to the floor. The Desplaines street police took him to the Bridewell hospital, where it is thought he will recover. The bottle was found to contain a mixture of ether and alcohol.

TWO DEAD, FOUR OVERCOME BY GAS IS DAY'S RECORD

Gas caused the death of two persons yesterday. Four others narrowly escaped asphyxiation.

Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Faber of 1503 North Ashland avenue forced entrance to their flat yesterday when the odor of gas was detected and found the burners of a heater had been left open. Mrs. Faber was dead. The husband, unconscious, was removed to a hospital. It was said he would recover.

Phillip Fuchs, 63 years old, of 3943 Addison street, a butcher, was found dead in his bed by his wife, Ma... Gas was escaping from a lighting jet. Mrs. Fuchs thought he had left the jet open accidentally.

Joseph Kempf of 3001 Komensky avenue found his two sons, Charles, 18 years old, and Joseph, 23 years old, and a friend, Christopher Besonschot, unconscious in the bedroom where they had spent the night. Gas had escaped from a defective heater. All three were revived.

Hunt "Fake Policeman" as Man Is Attacked

The police are searching for a man alleged to be impersonating a policeman, as the result of an attack on Emil Johnson, 6512 North Clark street.

Johnson and his brother Godfrey were in a saloon at Clark street and Irving Park boulevard Saturday evening when two men entered. One said he was a policeman in plain clothes and demanded that every one present buy Red Cross seals.

Johnson, according to the report, demanded the man's authority to sell the seals and was beaten.

The New Service Store for Gillette Users

THE Gillette Safety Razor Company has established a line of service stations across the continent. Not for sales and profits—but in the way of helpfulness and service to its patrons!

The Gillette Company wants every man to enjoy a hundred per cent. perfect Gillette shave.

That means the cleanest, smoothest, most satisfying shave in the world. No lost motion. No stropping, no honing.

If there is a man in this town who isn't getting a perfect Gillette shave, we want to know it.

In the razor field the Gillette is the one world-wide and universal success, by the verdict of twenty million users representing every type of beard and texture of skin.

If your Gillette does not deliver the best shave you ever had, it is either because you have not caught the simple knack of using it, or your razor needs some slight adjustment.

NOSKE DECLARES BERLIN WILL NOT SIGN PROTOCOL

jurious to German interests, and we should not agree."

May Send New Mission.

The German ministry has not yet reached a dicision on the ratification question. Reports are current that Baron von Lersner and his peace delegates will probably be replaced by a new delegation comprising financiers, business men and leaders of the Hanseatic league, in addition to diplomats.

The Liberal Vossiche Zeitung attacks the government for its methods of handling the situation, and accuses it of trying to achieve, through a rupture with the entente, what it has been unable to accomplish by negotiations.

MEANS GUERRILLA WAR

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—Although the German government would offer no military resistance to any advance of an army of occupation from the Rhine bridgeheads, the certain result would be prolonged guerrilla warfare.

Not only would the residents of invaded territory develop into hundreds of snipers, but small units would take the bit in their teeth and hasten to meet the advance to exact the largest toll of lives possible. No matter what would be the sincerity of the government in its efforts to prevent bloodshed, the activity of guerrilla bands could not be prevented.

Only 300,000 Men Available.

Almost all the high officers of the present army belonged to the old regime, and many have declared they could and would lead troops against any advance across the Rhine.

Not a single German has been heard to assert Germany could oppose the military of the allied armies. Were such an attempt made it could not muster 300,000 men in thirty days, and those could not be transported and equipped except in a manner to make destruction inevitable.

War Supplies Gone.

The railroads are shot to pieces, arms have vanished, munitions have been melted down, and many plants are closed or have been converted to peace purposes. Even a guerrilla would be limited to the equipment and supplies that he carried, and would be compelled to travel in small units which probably never could be reassembled. Hills in wooded sections would be infested with snipers. Artillery fire would be a rarity, but there would be rifle and machine gun fire by day and night. Although it could be retarded insignificantly, the advance could not be stopped nor checked.

Berlin knows the allied advance plans have been completed, and that the movement probably would be the best ever executed in military history. Army experts agree that to oppose it at all would be military folly.

Two Nations Recognize the Republic of Austria

U. S. AGENTS LAY PLANS FOR NEW DRIVE ON H. C. L.

It being Sunday, the federal forces who have been endeavoring to pull Humpty "H. C. L." Dumpty off the wall in such manner as to render it impossible to put him back again, rested and revised their plan of attack.

Confident of victory, they added dealers in fuel oil to the list of those under investigation, the district attorney having received numerous complaints Saturday that an attempt was being made to advance the price since the coal shortage.

"In each case where there is evidence of an arbitrary advance the grand jury will be asked to return indictments," said United States Attorney Clyne. "Nor have we relaxed our prosecution of sugar profiteers. We will go ahead this week placing the evidence with the grand jury.

"We are after the refiner of sugar now. Three refiners have been arrested in Michigan."

The district attorney made the statement following a conference with United States Attorneys Sawyer, Wolf, Walker and Knotts of Milwaukee, Madison, Grand Rapids and Springfield, Ill.

Chicago Mail Plane Goes to Repairmen; Pilot Unhurt

Goshen, Ind., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—United States eastbound mail plane No. 91, which Pilot M. H. Harris of Chicago was driving from Chicago to Cleveland yesterday, and which was wrecked in a forced landing near Wakarusa, southwest of here, was brought here today and shipped to Buttelton, Pa., the government reclamation station. Three hundred pounds of first class mail was sent from Wakarusa to Cleveland on the Wabash railroad. Sleet and snow interfered with Harris and forced a landing. He was unhurt.

VISIT NEW ORLEANS

and the Gulf Coast Resorts

You'll be fascinated by New Orleans with its novel admixture of Creole languor and American enterprise, its happy blending of the customs of different races. You'll go down into the French and Spanish quarters of the old city with their narrow streets and picturesque one-story houses, with gardens of palms and ferns shaded by ancient twisted oaks. Visit Cabildo, the grim one-time debtors' prison, and the old Absinthe House, landmark of a by-gone industry.

You'll dine at quaint, sanded floor restaurants renowned for wonderful dishes unobtainable elsewhere. You'll marvel, too, at the grandeur of the residential section of the new city with its cool galleries, spacious lawns and tropical gardens.

You'll motor out to Lake Pontchartrain with its water sports, regattas and brilliant social life. Or perhaps you'll sojourn at Mobile, Pensacola or one of the other delightful Gulf Coast resorts.

New Orleans and the Gulf Coast Resorts afford all Sports and Pastimes. Winter Racing, Duck Shooting, Hunting, Golf, Yachting, Fishing, Motoring.

Attractive Winter Excursion Fares to Resorts in the South are offered by the United States Railroad Administration. For Fares, Schedules, Service, Maps or Booklet, "Florida and Southern Winter Resorts," apply to or write nearest Consolidated Ticket Office or wounded soldiers at Fort Sheridan are being fed under conditions "worse than any in France," Congressman Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota yesterday concluded a visit to the north shore institution by sending a telegram to Secretary of War Baker asking for an immediate investigation.

ORT SHERIDAN WOUNDED DENIED FOOD, BAKER TOLD

Congressman, After Visit to Buddies, Demands Investigation.

"I dropped off in Chicago to go to Fort Sheridan to see some wounded boys," said Congressman Johnson when he wrote the telegram. "With my own eyes I saw at least sixty patients turned out of a mess hall without their Sunday dinners.

"Many of those fortunate enough to get something received only potatoes and bread. There was little if any meat to be seen. I asked questions and was told it was not unusual. Why, these men should have the best of food. It's a disgrace, and somebody's head will. I intend to follow up this matter when I get to Washington."

Telegram to Baker.

Mr. Johnson's telegram to Secretary of War Baker follows:

"Visited General Hospital No. 28, Fort Sheridan, Ill., today and saw at least sixty men compelled to go without dinner. I ask that the inspector general be directed to investigate this condition at once and that whatever persons are responsible be punished. Men at Fort Sheridan will give testimony to bear out my charge."

A. D. Rahn of Minneapolis, lumberman, who accompanied Congressman Johnson on his visit, said:

"If we were to attempt to feed laborers in a lumber camp in the manner that those soldiers fed today we could not keep a single one working. It's terrible to think of in these days. During the war there may have been reason for poor feeding at times, but why now? I was shocked to see those soldier fellows refused food. 'There is nothing left,' the attendants declared. Somebody should pay for such conditions."

Enlisted as Private.

Congressman Johnson enlisted in the army as a private Jan. 4, 1918. He was promoted to a sergeancy and later made a second lieutenant, going to France with the 313th infantry in October, 1918. He was promoted to a first lieutenant overseas and returned home in December. He is married and has two children.

CLEMENCEAU'S DAUGHTER TO LECTURE HERE

MME. CLEMENCEAU JACQUEMAIRE

Mme. Clemenceau-Jacquemaire, daughter of Georges Clemenceau, premier of France, who will be in Chicago to lecture Dec. 15 at Orchestra hall, will be the recipient of many social honors.

Mme. Clemenceau Jacquemaire, who is said to have inherited much of her father's genius as a writer and speaker, will speak on "The Soul of France."

She is the youngest daughter of the French premier and is a widow. Her son, Renee, is a medical student in Paris, representing the sixth generation of the Clemenceau family to take up medicine, the premier himself having taken his degree before the age of 25.

40,000 MORE POUNDS OF ANTI-H. C. L. FISH ON SALE THIS WEEK

THE TRIBUNE, having put the fish in efficiency, has 40,000 pounds more to offer at extremely low prices this week.

You can get them at four big municipal markets: the Milwaukee Avenue market, the Lincoln Avenue market, the Irving Park market, and the South Chicago market. And the prices are the same as last week:

Haddock	11c	Steak cod	15c
Flounder	12c	Pollock	15c
Finnan haddie	15c	Salmon	25c
Market cod	12c	Halibut	25c

NAVAL RESERVE OFFICERS BUY OLD YACHT CLUB

Commodore James A. Pugh, financial backer of Mayor Thompson in his first campaign, has dropped the last souvenir of the Damon and Pythias friendship that cracked during the mayor's first term. It became known yesterday that a group of naval reserve officers, headed by Capt. Edward A. Evers, has purchased from Commodore Pugh the old Columbia Yacht club home at the fot of Randolph street for $5,600.

This building was purchased by Pugh to house the Sportsmen's Club of America, the mayor's machine in his first campaign, after its eviction from a Michigan avenue building. Pugh salvaged it from the yacht club's few assets in bankruptcy proceedings.

The Naval Reserve Officers' association, composed of ex-"gold stripers" in the Great Lakes region, will use the building as a clubhouse and mess room. Capt. Evers is president of the association and Lieut. Charles H. Dewey, secretary and treasurer.

Apparel shop, Fourth floor.

Imported and individual model suits, costumes and wraps reduced one-fourth to more than half.

Books for Women—

Companionable Sorts, to Compliment, Entertain and Inspire

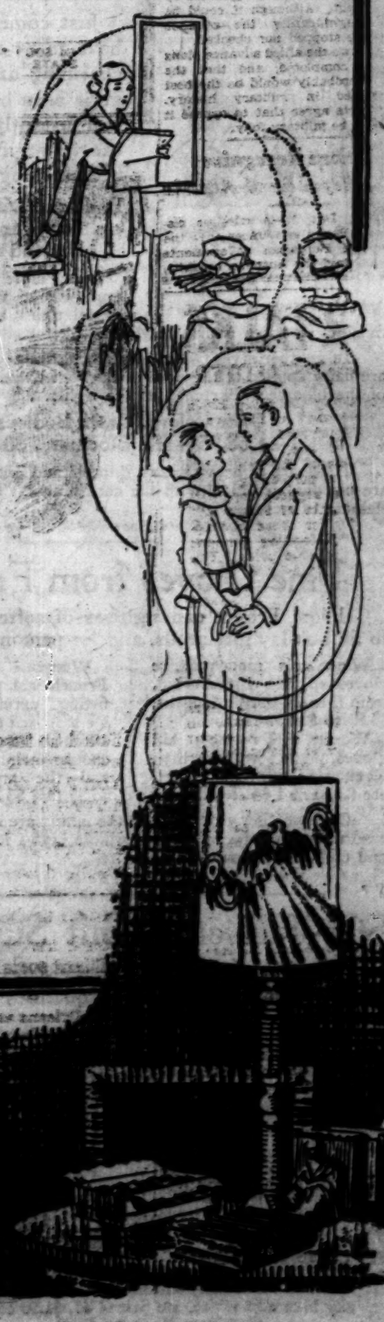

And every nook and cranny of this Christmas Bookstore is filled with the kinds of books a woman would choose for her various moods—glad books, books of laughter and tears all in one, books on art and music, interesting books that open up new worlds, new vistas of thought to divert the mind from humdrum every day occupations.

Then there are tales of fiction—delightfully thrilling stories of absorbing interest, human stories, too, of the hopes and fears of characters that might live in your own neighborhood, so real are their experiences.

Besides all these, there are many standard works of the world's most enjoyable authors, in unusually attractive bindings, and, because we bought them as publishers' surplus stocks on a lower price basis, they are much less than could be expected if bought now, indeed if they could be had at all.

Purposeful Gifts for the Home

ONE has only to take the elevators to this gift-laden floor to know that Christmas is very near—so eloquent of this happy season are the displays. Here there are excited whisperings about gifts for the home-keeping hearts they are destined to gladden—and the most exacting preferences are finding delightfully apt expressions in these assortments.

Fine Old Dutch China—

In design and colorings unique as the quaint colony that makes it. And one may choose a tea service quite complete, at $35. A delightfully useable honey jar to accompany it, for $6.

Then there are all sorts of odd pieces—for instance, a most unusual-looking water pitcher is $9, and there's a chop tray priced $6.50.

Desk or Piano Lamps—

Very accommodating are these copper and verde green metal lamps whose arms may be adjusted to throw the light directly on music or book. And there's a shade that harmonizes exactly, at $16.50.

Library table lamps with attractive metal bases and art glass shades are as simple or as elaborate as one may wish; priced $10 to $50.

Beautiful Venetian Glass—

This beautiful art glass looks as if it were encrusted in ice that lets the charming colorings through. Some pieces there are that are well content to be purely decorative, others are quite purposeful.

Stoppered bottles of Venetian glass topped with very natural-looking, glistening lemons, pears or apples, or a gay-colored nosegay, are $4.50 to $17.50.

Gold-encrusted China—

Most beautiful pieces they are—a tea service of this fine ware, consisting of gracefully shaped pot, sugar and creamer, is priced $27.50 set.

Cake or sandwich trays of gold-encrusted china in patterns to match, are $6.75 to $10. Chop plates of this same ware are of ample proportions, at $22.

Book-Ends Unusual in Design—

For one's most frequently thumbed volumes there are demure china maids in quaint costumes that very obligingly hold the covers shut. These are $12.50 pair.

Bronze book-ends in a most pleasing variety of classic figures are priced $7 to $10 pair.

Mexican Water Jars—

These are the handiwork of Mexican Indians, and are hand-decorated in numerous designs, typically Indian. There's a tumbler and plate to match, and all surprisingly light for their size. The set, $10.

China desk sets, consisting of decorated blotter-holder, calendar tray, stand and blotter-corners, are $2.

Dinner Gongs and Candlesticks—

Dresden China—

This charming ware may be had in those accessory pieces that add a delightful decorative touch to any service. Compotes, candlesticks, cake and sandwich plates, $5 to $50.

Ivory-tinted bisque elephants of very clever designing are in three sizes, at $1.25, $2.25 and $3.

This whole page and many more might be filled with news of hundreds of other gift-worthy articles—china and glass and lamps and pictures—articles of enduring charm and treasured remembrance. This is the time for best selection.

'BOB' INGERSOLL SENDS MESSAGE VIA SURF STREET

'Prof.' at Seance Peddles Dry Humor with Astral Lore.

LETTERS FROM THE SPIRIT WORLD—NO. 8

"I believe the American people have brains enough and nerve enough and courage enough to control and govern themselves without any assistance from dust or ghosts."—Col. Robert G. Ingersoll.

Col. Ingersoll has probably changed his mind since he passed over into the "astral" plane, for he appears in the spirit every Friday afternoon, at the home of the Rev. Janette F. Erion, apt. 5 H, The Lessing, 550 Surf street, speaking through the lips of Prof. Rheaumont, a Milwaukee importation, who claims to be an Indian medicine man and spiritualistic medium.

I had heard Mrs. Erion at a public meeting refer to this man as a "wonderful" medium and I sent two young women in to take instruction in mediumship from Col. Ingersoll and his medium.

The Price Was $1.20 Each.

It cost $1.20 each and I have the following report from them:

You fit up an elevator in the Lessing apartment to the fifth floor, turn to the right, and knock before entering. A big angora cat greets you with a meow. You find Mrs. Erion cashiering and you are asked to take off your wraps and step into the living room, which is lined with rows of folding chairs.

The wide open door of an adjoining room discloses a glimpse of the dark skinned medium, smoking a cigar and adjusting his wig and skull cap. (One of the rules of good mediumship is not to use alcohol or tobacco before a seance.) Another gentleman in a silky housecoat and slippers is smoking happily.

This proves to be also the salesroom of Miss Hazel Erion, who specializes in pajamas and silk underwear and other items of interest to women.

The space in front of the fireplace was reserved for Prof. Rheaumont. On either side were chairs for Mrs. Erion and Miss Hazel and two other regular visitors. The sound of soft music came from a cabinet in the corner.

The Professor a Dry Joker.

The professor came in and rapped the meeting to order, calling for a drink of water and remarking that it didn't have the kick it used to have in the old days.

Out went the lights.

Prof. Rheaumont now announced that he was "Bob" Ingersoll. He opened the meeting with the Lord's prayer. Then he said:

"Listen to Bob now and try to register on your brain cells what he has to say. I affirmed to you the last time I was in your midst, do you remember, that there is six planes of mediumship. Now, what is these six planes, can you remembah?

The class gave the six phases.

You Has to Have Strength.

"Very good. Now, to be a good medium, I affirm that you has to have strength. O, you must have strength. And to ahquire that strength you have to do unto others as you would want them to do by you. You has to affirm the golden rule.

"Now, what is the difficultest of these phases of mediumship?"

"Trance mediumship," piped up a blonde woman about 35.

"An' why is this trance mediumship the difficultest?"

"Because it is the passing of the soul out of the astral body to the end of the cord of life."

"Very good, very good. That's the right explanation, that is. The astral body is borned again."

The Trumpet Missing.

The lesson lasted half an hour. Then the faint light that crept under the curtain was glimmed and "Bob" disappeared. Prof. Rheaumont announced a spirit meeting. He called for a trumpet. The regular next to Hazel said he had forgotten his. Mrs. Erion said she would buy a trumpet next week.

Darkness prevailed. The Prof. asked his students to tell him what they had "seen," since the last meeting.

"Not too close, not too close," cautioned the professor.

"O!" moaned a female voice, "that is my uncle and that is just the way he passed out!"

A Mountainous Vision.

Then the medium had a vision.

"I see a mountain with light on top of it, divided by wonderful crags and canyons which is a beautiful vision for me. Yes, a beautiful vision."

A gray haired woman of 45 said:

"I was in a church, a big brown stone church. And stood apart when suddenly my feet began to rise up and down. They went so fast I couldn't see them. They went faster and faster. Then I awoke and it was 6 o'clock and I felt like the weight of the spirit that had been guiding me."

"Very beautiful vision," said "Bob." "That means a wonderful message and I feel Bob says that church am goin' to be built by some one in this room."

Not the Right Method.

The report seems to be sufficient. It reveals something the public is asked to pay for and to accept in the name of spiritualism. This cannot be the right method. I will try to find you some one who is teaching this subject in a manner that might appeal to an intelligent person. K., INVESTIGATOR.

BIG TIM, CZAR OF YARDS, HELD IN AUTO MIXUP

Poohbah Sees a 'Plot'; Threatens Strike as Reprisal.

Big Tim Murphy, organizer of the Gashouse union, business agent of the street cleaners' union, and Lord High Everything Else of things political in the stockyards district, found himself in the central station a short time last night.

His large clientele probably will be shocked to learn it, but Tim was brought face to face with the law on a charge of having received stolen property—an automobile belonging to Dr. Jack Scherer of Indianapolis, Ind.

The complainant is James A. Flaws, representing an auto insurance company, who is handling the local end of Scherer's battle to recover his machine. The company incidentally is anxious to get back the amount of insurance it paid to Scherer for the loss of his car.

Murphy Blames Gas Company.

Murphy claims the whole thing is a cooked up job on the part of the Peoples Gas company to "get him" because he started a union of gas men.

Dr. Scherer's machine was stolen in Indianapolis Sept. 30. When the required time elapsed he received the insurance. This satisfied the doctor, but not the insurance company.

Later the police learned Big Tim was burning up the streets with a nifty auto. After much sleuthing it was discovered the car was the one stolen from Dr. Scherer.

Murphy contends he purchased the machine from Tony Paviakos, a fruit peddler at One Hundred and Third street and Michigan avenue. He has the bill of sale to prove it. But the police claim the lawyer who affixed his notary public stamp is the same one mixed up previously in a shady auto swap.

Tony Just Ain't.

The police also have been unable to locate Tony. He just ain't, the detectives say.

Nevertheless, Tim insists he is innocent; that he came by the machine in an honest transaction and that it's nothing more than a "frame up."

"If they give me a bum deal on this," Murphy roared last night, "this city will be out of gas Tuesday, because I'll call out on strike my union of 2,200 gas men. That'll fix 'em. They're wondering where I got the money to buy the car. Well, I got $2,000 in cash and $1,500 in notes from the street cleaners' union for getting them a raise."

Murphy was released on $5,000 bonds signed by William Simon, a professional bondsman. He will be arraigned in the South Clark street station tomorrow.

HUNTS FOR WIFE WHO HE SAYS MAY BE IN MOVIES

MRS. KATIE STURGES

Daniel Sturges, an electroplater living at 540 West Madison street, hasn't seen his wife since August and he wants to find her. He thinks that his Katie, whom he met while serving in the army, may be selling home made hair grower with her mother, in the movies, or divorced. The last time she wrote him it was to say that he had not sent her enough money.

Mysterious Phone Call Lures Wife from Home

A mysterious telephone message, traced to a drug store, is believed to have lured Mrs. Jean Watts, 21 years old, 3138 Walnut street, away from home.

Mrs. Watts has been gone since Saturday, when she came home after a shopping tour, and immediately went out in response to the telephone call, which informed her she "was wanted urgently at 2208 West Madison street."

Her husband, Ira Watts, said he went to the address, but found no one who knew of his wife or of any telephone call made from there.

GEM, BROKEN RIB, AND AUTO MAKE TANGLED STORY

Keith Southern Is Held on Charge of Theft of Auto.

Broken ribs, a valuable diamond lavalliere, and an automobile are attracting the attention of Chicago society women, detectives, and Keith Southern of 6101 Winthrop avenue, this morning. Southern is the owner of the fractured bones, and president of the United Automatic Water Heating company of Gary, Ind.

The lawful owner of the lavalliere and auto are perturbing Detective Sergeants Michael Vaughan and Michael Neary, while Southern is enjoying liberty on bonds of $2,500 to insure his appearance in South Clark street court on Thursday to answer a charge of larceny contained in a warrant for his arrest, obtained by W. L. Wallace, claimant of the car.

Charge Arrest Was Resisted.

The broken ribs came into the situation when Vaughan and Neary took Southern into custody at the Granville garage. The detectives say it was necessary to persuade Southern physically. He differs and declares he will seek a warrant for the officers' arrest, charging assault.

Southern last night declared that the affair was instigated by envious rivals. Vaughan and Neary counter by asserting that this is the second time Southern has come to their attention as stars of the auto detail of the bureau. They assert that "The Gary Plumbing Supply company," a side line of Southern's, has been used as a blind for the sale of stolen automobiles and accessories. Southern stoutly denies this.

Lavalliere Unidentified.

Vaughan and Neary are interviewing society women and buds in an effort to identify the lavalliere as lost property. They circulated among the elite at the Boardwalk show at the Coliseum, but without success. A "close-up" portrait of the bauble is to be printed in the society columns of the Police Bulletin tomorrow.

"Our professional curiosity was aroused when we found that Southern could afford to sell such things at a price far below market value," said Vaughan.

"I bought it to give to a friend," declared Southern. "Certainly, my wife knows all about it. I purchased it at J. L. Art & Co., 5 South Wabash avenue. The detectives do not need to bother any women about it and as for the automobile, why that'll come out all right, too."

Southern married Miss Marion Weaver, well know in Cleveland and North Side society, a year ago.

SLUR ON LEGION NEARLY STIRS UP WAUKEGAN RIOT

Waukegan, Ill., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—M. Babich, a member of the executive board of the Steel Workers' council of Gary, Ind., narrowly escaped being mobbed at a strikers' meeting here this afternoon when he let drop the remark, "Yellow American Legion."

A number of members of the American Legion, led by Bradford F. West, a former lieutenant, and one of the charter members of the Waukegan post, rushed to the platform and demanded with doubled fists that he apologize publicly.

Strikers moved threateningly toward the stage and a number of policemen rushed down the aisles.

"I'm not referring to the American Legion," Babish shouted above the din. "I mean a body of Gary citizens who organized to break the steel strike and called themselves the Loyal American league. We called them the 'Yellow American league.'"

Theodore J. Vind, Chicago organizer of the American Federation of Labor, declared Abraham Lincoln would be a bolshevik if he were living today, especially as regards the injunction issued by Judge Anderson in the coal strike.

BEGIN TO DOUBT WHETHER BODY IS MAUDE TABOR'S

Lawton, Mich., Dec. 7.—The statement by Mrs. Sarah I. Tabor that her daughter, Maude, died of asthma in Colorado Springs caused some authorities here today to express doubt of the positive identification of the body generally believed to be Miss Tabor's, which was found in a trunk in the basement of the home here a week ago.

Joseph Virgo, a close friend of the dead woman, testified that the body was that of the school teacher, who disappeared nearly four years ago. Officials today thought the testimony of the mother and Walter Tabor, brother of the dead woman, would clear up the mystery.

Continuance of the inquest is awaiting the return of the Tabors from California, where deputy sheriffs went for them yesterday, and the report of University of Michigan pathologists now examining the body in an effort to establish the cause of death.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 7.—Eleven hundred American soldiers arrived from Siberia today on the transport Sheridan. A sign on the ship's side read: "Bolshevists, beware! We are coming home to join the American Legion!"

The Sheridan also brought the bodies of forty-five Americans killed in a surprise attack by the bolsheviki in the Suchone region. Another body brought was that of Quartermaster Agent Andrew Ryan, holder of the congressional medal of honor for valor displayed in the chase of the Indians who massacred Gen. Custer's command. Ryan died at sea last Friday.

W. F. Reilly, former acting British high commissioner in Siberia, arrived on the Sheridan on his way to Bolivia, where he will become British minister.

"LEFTY" IN NEED, GOOD FELLOWS; HELP HIM OUT

We shall call him "Lefty." He is a high school graduate. A dozen years ago his name appeared in the batting averages and in the salary averages at $200 a month. That was a good income before wars and coal strikes and such sent the cost of living soaring.

His batting eye failed, his pitching arm slowed up, and he had to quit the game, but up until two years ago he commanded a moderate salary and was able to supply his little family with the necessities of life. Then he became ill. At first it was thought he had tuberculosis, but the trouble was found to be asthma and chronic bronchitis. He could no longer work.

"Lefty" Makes Brave Fight.

His wife supported the family until a few months ago, when a baby—the fourth child—was born. Since then she has been unable to leave home.

"Lefty" is making a brave fight and hopes to be strong enough to go back to work, but just now he is worrying, and worry doesn't help one recover from an illness. He isn't worrying about himself. "Lefty" always was game. He's worrying because Mrs. "Lefty" and Harry, who is 5, Lawrence, 6, Loraine, 2, and Baby Ira won't have a Christmas.

So here's a chance for some fan who used to watch "Lefty" line them out to come to bat.

Where Is Their Christmas?

Some Good Fellow also will have to substitute for Mr. M., who never was a good fellow himself. He married Mrs. M. not long after her first husband died, leaving her $1,000 insurance and four children. Mr. M. took what was left of the thousand and skipped out. The oldest boy is learning to be a cobbler. Bertha, his 13 year old sister, is only in the fourth grade at school. Lack of proper nourishment, it is said, has halted her progress. At present the little family receives no income save that given by the county and charitable organizations.

The monthly budget runs something like this: Rent, $10; food, $23; milk, $9.10, and household incidentals, $4; total, $46.10. Where is Christmas coming from?

A Message From Taylor Street.

And here, Mr. Good Fellow, is a message for you from Taylor street:

"We are wishing to have a Christmas basket because we are seven children, and my mother and my father and my grandmother—Mary, 13; Molly, 11; Donald, 10; Joe, 8; Marie, 5; Johnny, 3; Alfred, 10 months old. My grandmother needs warm clothes and the little one, who is 10 months old, is sick. My brothers cry because they need some toys to play.

"Please send us some warm clothes. We haven't any petticoat. We have our summer clothes yet for Christmas. Please send something to us. My grandmother needs some clothes. Only my father is working, and we cannot afford to buy clothes. They all want some shoes. The one who is Mary, 13, wants a blouse for Christmas. My grandmother is so old and sick. We haven't anything to give her.—Mary C."

Good Fellows must hurry! Call Central 135, 136, 137, or 138 today. Don't put it off. Mail the blank printed on page 9 or drop into the office on the first floor of THE TRIBUNE building and visit the Good Fellow desk. It's just a few steps out of your way. A little effort spent, a little money invested, a smile, and a few words of cheer will produce a happiness you never dreamed of. Try it!

'A BUG'S EYE VIEW OF WAR' WORK OF A REPORTER

Many men have written books on the late lamented fracas overseas, but it remained for Charles G. MacArthur, reporter for THE TRIBUNE, to write one of the most personal—a "close up."

MacArthur was a private in Battery F, 149th field artillery, Col. Henry J. Reilly's "Bucks" of the Rainbow division. This was the battery that went over the top with the infantry—the first time in the history of heavy ordnance—with the men dragging the guns. The battery also did another unique thing—went right smack out into "no man's land" in daylight and stayed there until its work was done.

MacArthur calls the book "A Bug's Eye View of the War." It concerns only the part his battery played in the affair and deals with individuals, engagements, incidents, officers, and tribulations. It is intended only for the boys of the battery, not for general consumption, and Mac was so darned modest he never wrote a word about himself, and didn't intend to put his name on it as author. He didn't know his name was on the cover until the book was published.

Faints at Vaccination; Dies from Resulting Fall

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Bernard Moffie of Boston, Mass., musical director of the show which played at the Star theater last week, died in the Western hospital from injuries received from a fall while he was undergoing vaccination at the Star theater on Friday. Moffie was vaccinated in the theater dressing room and a few minutes after fainted and fell, striking his head on the cement floor. His skull was fractured.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

GIVE A LITTLE TO MAKE YULE GAY FOR BOYS WHO GAVE ALL

If you knew how much joy that $5 bill, which you never will miss, would bring to some wounded soldier you wouldn't hesitate a moment. Suppose every patriotic citizen would give up one night at the opera, theater, or cabaret. It wouldn't be such a great sacrifice, yet that money would help several soldiers to a merry Christmas at Fort Sheridan hospital.

Whether you did your bit in America or in France, you haven't finished your bit while there is a single wounded soldier left in a government hospital. The "cot" boys have earned the right to a merry Christmas. Are you going to help?

A number of patriotic women are giving their time, money, and efforts toward assuring the wounded soldiers the right kind of a Christmas. All you are asked to give is a little money, not gifts or clothing. That isn't much, when you consider what the 3,000 boys still in the Fort Sheridan hospital have given.

THE TRIBUNE will generally acknowledge all contributions, checks, or cash, which should be sent care of the cashier, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Do it today.

122D AUXILIARY VOTES TO PARCEL OUT TRUST FUND

That trust fund of more than $6,000 that has been a subject of discord in the 112d field artillery auxiliary provided further argument at a meeting in the Hotel Morrison yesterday, but a tentative settlement was made.

The money, which is the residue of a fund raised by various entertainments, has been in charge of seven trustees, of whom Attorney Francis J. Houlihan is chairman. According to the charter, the disposition of this sum is vested entirely in the trustees, irrespective of any action taken by the auxiliary members. Most of the money has been invested in bonds.

"Where do the boys get off at?" asked one parent. "They don't care where the money is ten years from now, when the trusteeship ends. They want it right away."

The majority of those present felt the same way. A motion requesting the trustees to parcel out the $6,000 among the batteries comprising the regiment was carried almost unanimously. It is now up to them.

Mrs. Harold P. Goodnow, president of the auxiliary, presided.

Woman Chats with Annoyer Until She Finds Policeman

Mrs. Ethel Barrett, 2416 West Monroe street, complained to the conductor of a Chicago avenue car at North Halsted street last night that two men were annoying her and a friend, Mrs. George Donovan, 2640 Park avenue.

"Keep them occupied until we get to the Chicago avenue police station," said the conductor.

Mrs. Barrett complied. At North Clark street the conductor stepped off, ran into the Chicago avenue police station, and brought out Policeman James Griffin, who arrested Esho George, a Persian, who said he is a waiter, and his companion, who was released. George was booked as disorderly.

STORIES BY TWO LITTLE GIRLS HIT INVENTOR

Grand Jury Will Sift Charges; Defendant Gone?

Serious charges preferred by two little girls against Edward G. Weiman, 35 years old, an inventor and former guest at the North Shore hotel, 1028 Sunnyside avenue, will be sifted today by the December grand jury. The evidence in the case, which has been suppressed up to the present time, is said to have stamped Weiman as a man of the Fitzgerald type and, according to court attaches, may result in his examination at the psychopathic laboratory.

Weiman is said to have made a small fortune through his invention of a wall bed. He is now said to be perfecting a folding bed to fit in automobiles. For the last few years he has lived at a number of hotels. The proprietor of one hotel said he had compelled Weiman to move when he discovered he had bored a hole through the wall between his room and a bathroom used by other guests.

John Hynes, proprietor of the Wilson avenue cafeteria, where Weiman frequently dined, said the man had been seen several times drawing obscene pencil sketches on the tablecloths.

Girls Tell of Annoyance.

A series of incidents, which resulted in Weiman's appearance before Municipal Judge James Donahoe in the Sheffield avenue court, began back in October. The 11 year old daughter of a guest at the North Shore hotel was sitting in the parlor when Weiman is alleged to have approached her. The child became so frightened she fled upstairs.

Two days later the man again found her in the parlor. She told her story to another guest, who is alleged to have advised her not to say anything about it. The child, however, told her mother. The mother, dreading publicity, did not call the police.

A few days later, another girl at the hotel, was annoyed. The girl rushed to her mother, who told Amiel Engelbrecht, the proprietor. The police were notified and Weiman was arrested by two plain clothes men.

When the case came up for a private hearing in the Sheffield avenue court the mother of the first little girl was admonished by the court for not having obtained a warrant. She was instructed to do so and Mrs. Laura Ebel of the social service department was called into the case.

Held to Grand Jury.

As a result of her investigation another warrant was sworn to against Weiman, and he was held to the grand jury in $5,000 bonds.

Attorney George R. Neff, who represented Weiman, declared last night he had not seen his client since the hearing in the Sheffield avenue court.

"I believe Weiman has left town," he said. "I merely happened to be in court and was called into the case. It was my understanding the evidence had not been presented to the grand jury, and it is my opinion an indictment will not be returned. I know little about Weiman save that he is an inventor."

According to Judge Donahoe, the best thing Weiman ever "invented" was his defense story to the court.

BEG YOUR PARDON

THE TRIBUNE on Thursday, Dec. 4, published a picture, captioned "Walter Tabor." The original photograph was borrowed from the Chicago Daily Journal, which published the picture on Wednesday, Dec. 3, and bore on the reverse side the name, "Walter Tabor." C. L. Balch of Lawton, Mich., writes that the picture is not that of Walter Tabor, but of his son, B. L. Balch. THE TRIBUNE regrets exceedingly the error in identity and wishes to state that B. L. Balch is in no way connected with the Tabor family.

CO-EDS AT N. W. U. LEAD THE MEN IN STUDY AVERAGES

Northwestern university co-eds have surpassed the men students in their studies, according to the averages announced Saturday at the Evanston college.

Six sororities have received a higher average mark in scholastic work than the leading fraternity, which long has been noted for its scholars.

Alpha Gamma Delta had the highest average of any sorority, with 1.8452 of a possible 2 points, according to the university method of figuring averages. The sororities to follow are: Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Delta, and Delta Delta Delta. Each had a higher average than the 1.6378 obtained by the Scribblers, the leading men's group.

Statistics show that the average among the nonfraternity men was higher than the scholastic standing of the fraternity brothers.

Song Warning at 3 A. M. Fails to Save Gamblers

Startled by the approach of Detective Sergeants Bullard, Freeman, and Christiansen at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, Michael Baroni, 939 Townsend street, leaning against a building at 940 Townsend street, burst into song.

"Drunk," said Bullard.

"Serenadin'," said Christiansen.

"Nix," said Freeman, pointing through a window where fourteen men were hastily scooping money, poker chips, and other gambling paraphernalia from tables. The fourteen were taken to the Chicago avenue station, where Vito Eally was booked as keeper.

Youths with Revolver and Cartridges Seized in Hotel

Richard Considine, 22, who says he is a nephew of Assistant State's Attorney James Considine and the son of Richard Considine, a saloonkeeper at Madison street and California avenue, was arrested last night in the Washington hotel with Edward Allen, 21, who was carrying a .45 caliber army type revolver. In Considine's pockets were found a number of cartridges.

Hugh Chalmers Better; Recovering from Illness

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 7.—Hugh Chalmers, Detroit, Mich., Automobile manufacturer who was operated on at a local hospital recently, is recovering and has been removed from the hospital to a local hotel. No indication as to when he would be able to leave for his home would be made by his physician tonight.

MAIMED HEROES JAR NERVES OF MUSICAL ELITE

Wish Soldiers Barred at Programs, but Protests Fall on Deaf Ears.

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

There is discord among members of the fashionable chamber music set which gathers at the Rachael Kinsolving Tuesday morning musicals at the Blackstone hotel.

Now that the war is over some object to an aura of iodoform surrounding their 11 o'clock music—and maimed soldiers do so detract from an aesthetic atmosphere!

A week ago last Tuesday seventeen wounded soldiers from hospital No. 2, on Forty-seventh street, attended the musicale at Miss Kinsolving's urgent invitation, and enjoyed themselves greatly. Some of them had but one leg, some had only one arm, many had an arm or a leg in a cast, and they hobbled along on crutches.

But some of the women who attended went home and wrote letters to Miss Kinsolving in which they objected to having her turn their musical mornings into a hospital. Others telephoned her. She had received fifteen telephone calls and four letters.

Protests Bring Shock.

"I was never so shocked in my life," said Miss Kinsolving last night. "Some of these women worked for the Red Cross during the war and pretended to be very patriotic. Now they dare to refuse these wounded boys a few hours' relief from the monotony of hospital life!

"One woman said if I had to have maimed soldiers at the musicals, I might ask five, and they would stand for that many, but seventeen was quite impossible.

"Another said the iodoform on the leg of one of the boys annoyed her and ruined her morning. Now, isn't that a shame? After all those boys went through in order that these women of wealth might sit there in their comfortable furs and listen to music!

"I admit I was a bit upset at first, because these women are the ones who help to make the musicals a success, but after serious thought I have decided to go tomorrow and invite the soldiers again, making the invitation especially urgent. If the women don't like it, they can stay away.

Hurls Insincerity Charge.

"When it was 'the thing' to raise money for war purposes, these women were much in the limelight. How insincere they are when they cannot inconvenience themselves one whit to give an hour's pleasure to these boys who came home maimed! If I had such thoughts, I should be ashamed to express them.

"Mrs. Russell Tyson brought some soldiers to one of the musicals once during war times. Some of these very women gathered around and pretended to Mrs. Tyson that they were very enthusiastic about the soldiers and the sacrifice they were about to make. At that time, because they demanded it, I had Belgian and French music, and they shed tears over the music and the musicians. Recently I spoke of having a Belgian singer and they said to me, 'O, we don't care aout that now—the war is over!'

Shows Red Cross Letter.

"'My Dear Miss Kinsolving: The invitation you extended to the patients of this hospital for the last Tuesday morning musical at the Blackstone was accepted by seventeen of the boys, and they were most enthusiastic in their accounts of the wonderful music and the scene in general. Quite a number of the men enjoy and appreciate the best music, and they knew it when they heard it last Tuesday. Please accept the thanks of Dr. J. O. Cobb, the officer in charge, as well as that of the men themselves, for the invitation. It was indeed very much appreciated. Yours very truly,

"'MABEL KATHERINE PEARSE,
"'Associate Director of Recreation.'"

Some one suggested that these women, who have quantities of money, furnish fancy scents, so the brave boys might be met at the door with an atomizer.

BAKERS' 'PADDED BRICK SQUAD' IS SEIZED BODILY

When a baker employed by George Schoenberger, 2120 Milwaukee avenue, was fined recently for violation of a rule of local No. 2 of the Chicago Bakers' union, he refused to pay the fine.

Warnings in writing to the effect he would be ousted failed of result. Early yesterday morning, according to the police, a "padded brick squad" in a motor truck was sent to "brick" the bakery.

A number of bricks were thrown, but the aim of the squad was poor and instead of scoring a bullseye on the big plate glass window, the bricks made dents in the bakery door.

About this time an automobile squad from the police station seized the men in the truck. At the station they gave the following names: Michael Schmaldock, 2033 North Halsted street; Christ Ley, 300 West North avenue; Martin Doty, 1814 Howe street.

The men, charged with malicious mischief, told the police they had been hired by George Weyers, 2464 North Hermitage avenue, an official of the bakers union, and were to receive $25 each for heaving the padded bricks. The police took Weyers into custody on a charge of conspiracy. Later he was released on bonds. He denied he had hired the men.

CHICAGO LABOR SEEKS FOOTHOLD IN HIGH SCHOOLS

"Oust Junior Commerce Body and Let Us In," Delegates Demand.

Chicago labor wishes a "Junior Chicago Federation of Labor" installed in the high schools in place of the Junior Association of Commerce.

At a meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday resolutions were adopted calling on the school board to discontinue the Junior Association of Commerce and urging its replacement by a juvenile labor organization yet to be organized.

Miss Hazel Dawn, Miss Ada Meade and several men actors, seated for the first time as delegates from the Chicago branch of the Actors' Equity association, remained for an hour of the four hour federation session. Seated in front of the women was a delegate smoking an old briar pipe. The session was just warming up when the actors withdrew.

He Wants "Direct Action."

The stage folk appeared deeply interested in the discussions of "labor troubles," especially when Gustav T. Fraenckel, organizer for machinists' union No. 113 and a "direct actionist," protested against adopting the school resolution. He declared the delegates were wasting time "trying to get the school board to do anything" and favored "direct action."

"I don't believe in protesting," he said. "The other side never does any protesting, so let us start some action. When they think labor is satisfied they wave a flag over its head, but when labor wants more money, shorter hours or anything else, they wave a policeman's club."

Gary Again Assailed.

John Fitzpatrick, president of the federation and chairman of the steel strike committee, admitted for the first time that the committee handling the strike was "not getting anywhere," and had called in assistance outside of the labor movement.

He declared a plea had been made to the Inter-Church Movement to appeal to E. H. Gary in an effort to settle the strike of the remaining steel workers. He said a committee of the church people had visited Mr. Gary with orders to disregard the original demands and try to obtain "a just settlement," but that Mr. Gary had refused to deal with the committee.

"That's what we are up against," shouted Fitzpatrick. "Gary refuses to deal with anybody. We need help, for we have voted to continue the strike."

Three Appeals Made.

He stated $235,000 had been collected to aid the remaining strikers, but more was needed. Miss Mathews, sent out from Pittsburgh by William Z. Foster, secretary of the fund committee, appealed for money. About $100 was donated.

Delegate F. B. Meister, secretary of the Cook county labor party, protested that the union men "are not supporting the party as they should." He declared that speakers generally met with empty halls.

Smulski Asks Americans for Funds to Save Poland

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—An appeal to the American people to support legislation to authorize a loan to Poland and the other newly created states in Europe was issued here tonight by John F. Smulski, president of the national Polish committee of America. Mr. Smulski said he spoke as head of Polish immigration in this country and, in a volunteer capacity, for the Lithuanians, and other Baltic peoples.

Nitro (the Plant) Sold to Charleston Men

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—Sale of the explosives plant at Nitro, W. Va., to the Charleston (W. Va.) Industrial corporation for $8,981,000 was announced today by the war department. The plant and town cost the government approximately $75,000,000.

CHILD FATALLY SCALDED.

Edward Lisowski, 3 years old, 4939 South Bishop street, was scalded to death yesterday when he fell into a tub of boiling water.

The Company has no funded debt other than a purchase money obligation of less than $200,000

MANAGEMENT—J. W. Gilliland will continue to head the organization of the Company, the properties of which have been selected and developed by him and associates over a period of years. As an independent operator in the Mid-Continent fields he has been uniformly successful, and has shown keen judgment in the selection of acreage. J. B. Gilliland, whose experience and reputation parallel that of his brother, will have charge of pipe lines and production.

The following has been summarized by President J. W. Gilliland from his letter to the bankers:

LOCATION OF PROPERTIES—The properties are advantageously located in the Cushing and Osage fields of Oklahoma, the Augusta and Eldorado fields of Kansas, the Burkburnett and Ranger fields of Texas, and the Homer and Bull Bayou fields of Louisiana, and comprise a total 108,733 acres of producing and non-producing leases. The Company's holdings in northern Louisiana are regarded as particularly valuable. These holdings lie in the Homer and Bull Bayou districts, which are probably the most active fields in the country today. Its interests here include 6 producing leases, on which there are 20 producing wells, 7 wells drilled to the sand waiting to be brought in, and 16 other wells drilling. In addition, the Company has more than 50 locations which I consider safely proven, both shallow and deep sand. One of the wells recently brought in in which the Company has a one-quarter interest produced in excess of 20,000 barrels per day on a test flow, and 6 of the 7 wells now on the sand are on property which is surrounded by 7 deep sand wells of large capacity. The Company's holdings are among the most extensive and favorably located of those of any company operating in these fields, which are remarkable for their large wells of high gravity oil, rich in gasoline content.

PRODUCTION AND DEVELOPMENT—There are 255 producing oil wells, with a present net daily production of over 16,000 barrels, all of which is normally sold at a premium. The company owns seven casing head gasoline plants, now making in excess of 12,000 gallons of gasoline per day, and additional plants will be erected. An aggressive development campaign is being conducted, with 25 new wells drilling at present.

APPRAISED VALUE OF PROPERTIES—P. J. White, President of the White Oil Corporation, appraised the Louisiana properties, and James K. Crawford, Vice-President of the Okla. Prod. & Ref. Co., and Frank Phillips, President of the Phillips Petroleum Company, have appraised the other properties, altogether comprising a net ownership of 2,506 acres in 31 producing leaseholds, 52,775 net acres of carefully selected undeveloped leases and lands owned in fee, drilling contracts covering 53,452 acres on which the drilling of four wells completes the contracts, gasoline plants, and a large stock of general field and drilling equipment, at approximately $15,500,000. Total net assets, including approximately $3,000,000 cash and current assets, amount to 368% of the Preferred Stock issue.

EARNINGS—Net earnings before depletion, depreciation, and taxes are now running at the rate of approximately $3,600,000 per annum. After experiencing benefits of the new financing, net earnings should approximate $4,500,000 per annum, or about $50 per share of Preferred Stock after allowing for depletion, depreciation and estimated Federal taxes, equivalent to over six times the preferred dividend requirements.

FINANCIAL POSITION—Common Stock is the sole consideration which has been given for the properties acquired by the Company. The entire proceeds of the present Preferred issue will be available for working capital and retirement of current obligations. There is no funded debt outside of a purchase money obligation of less than $200,000, nor can any bonds, debentures or notes running for more than one year be issued without consent of holders of two-thirds of the outstanding Preferred Stock.

It is expected that application will be made to list this stock on the New York Stock Exchange

BAN ON LIGHTS HALTS WOODMEN OF WORLD CLASH

Grim and Row Are Doused at Same Time Just as "Riot" Impends.

More than 200 members of the Woodmen of the World met in a cold room of the Masonic temple yesterday to discuss the recent increase in the insurance rates of the order. The room was not cold long.

Before the meeting had been in session fifteen minutes the proceedings began to zip. Unkind words were passed back and forth. Some one shouted "Liar." The air sizzled with picturesque epithets. The police were called.

Things quieted down a bit. Then a chairman, Charles C. Roe, was elected, after a ten minute wrangle, and it looked as if the chairs might fly. The police were spared from interfering by the stroke of 5:30, when the lights were snapped off and the meeting ended in disorder.

Leaders from St. Louis branches of the organization were blamed for the disturbance by the Chicago members. The St. Louis members declared the hall was "packed" against them and voted to adjourn.

"I hired the hall for our committee of eighteen or nineteen under the name of the Protective League of the Woodmen of the World. The administration, under the leadership of Evan J. Morris, city manager; Philip McGuire, William Mooney, and others, came over in a body and packed the hall. The administration delegates worked to get a chairman and refused to allow him to proceed."

Evan J. Morris said: "Moore got up and introduced Roe as chairman. That meeting was intended for a discussion of rates, we think a chairman should have been elected by the majority. But it wasn't. The meeting was part of a feud that developed over the rate question."

"Too Much of This and Too Little of That"

INVENTORIES of parts are shocking because you usually discover how much money you have tied up. And with too many of some parts unnecessarily on hand, there are too few of others. The result is delayed production, which is costly.

How easy it is to control your Stock with the proper facilities! Rand Visible Card-Records, for instance, are always ready to give instant information. The Stock Clerk runs down a visible list of products' names and there, with the lifting of a panel card-pocket, the complete record of parts-on-hand, with the proper maximum and minimum limits for that part, is before his eyes. A simple visible signal system guards against overstocking and material shortage. Rand equipment is seven times faster than groping through blind, closed files for data. And there is no chance of misplacing vital cards.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

AMERICAN LEAGUE SCRAP A QUEER JUMBLE

WITHDRAWAL OF LAWSUIT FAILS TO SMOOTH FUSS

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Instead of clarifying or crystallizing the situation in the American league, as it was expected to do, the latest New York injunction suit, which ended indecisively on Saturday, made things more "intrickit."

President Johnson of the American league, who spent yesterday at his downtown office, declined to discuss the withdrawal of their injunction suit by the New York club owners or its effect on the situation.

He also declined to say whether he would attend the meeting called by three directors of the league for New York on Wednesday or would proceed with the meeting which he has called for Chicago on the same day. Presumably he has consulted the five "loyal" club owners to ascertain their views before making the decision.

Commy to New York Meeting.

President Comiskey of the White Sox, one of the three fighting directors, said he planned to leave today for New York to attend the session he and Ruppert and Frazee had called.

The big question asked me by every Chicago fan who takes any interest at all in these family rows is why the Comiskey-Ruppert-Frazee faction is so insistent on holding the session in New York instead of Chicago, when it has been awarded to our fair city for several Decembers past.

The fans want to know what it is that the directors can do to Ban Johnson in Gotham that they cannot do to him here. As one of the questioners puts it: "If they are scheming to throw Johnson into the North river, why not Lake Michigan? It's wider and deeper. Or, if they are planning to kidnap Ban and hold him for ransom, Chicago is much nearer to Mexico than New York is."

Seeks the Reason.

I asked Comiskey about it and he thought the meeting was called for New York on advice of the Yankee club's lawyers. Personally, the owner of the White Sox likes a railroad and the inside of a Pullman no better than Henry Cabot Lodge likes Woodrow Wilson.

So there must be some cogent reason for Comiskey's preference for a journey to Gotham, with the Twentieth Century canceled, to a limousine trip downtown to the Congress hotel behind the skillful pilotage of Walter Gear.

Apparently the withdrawal of the suit to enjoin the holding of the annual meeting in Chicago on Wednesday was due to belief the New York courts would not or could not make such injunction effective.

Won't Attend Meeting Here.

That action removed all obstacles to holding the session here, except the fact the three directors of the league, who are fighting to oust President Johnson, will not atend a meeting here and have announced they will attack such a session as illegal.

Strong assertions were made by the New York club owners that their withdrawal of this latest injunction was not a step toward compromise, and the inference is they are planning other court proceedings designed to tie up the American league's affairs unless they are successful in forcing the other five club owners to yield.

QUESTIONS THEY ASK.

CHICAGO.—To the Editor.—1. What is the difference between the gray duck and the widgeon? 2. Do ducks ever cross or hybridize? 3. Are old squaw ducks ever shot in Illinois? 4. How can you tell a lesser from a greater scaup? P. R.

Answers—1. "Gray duck" is the common name of the gadwall, although it is often applied to the female of the bald pate or American widgeon. The true or European widgeon is a rare bird in this section of the country, as the only place they breed in America is in the Aleutian islands. The gadwall has brown wing coverts, while the bald pate's are white, as are its underparts and the top of the male bird's head. 2. Apparently so; we have seen several birds that any one would say were crosses between a pin tail and a mallard. 3. Occasionally on the inland lakes, and they are quite common late in the fall on Lake Michigan; as table ducks they do not amount to a whoop. 4. Scaup is the fancy name for the ducks we call blue bills. The greater scaup is slightly larger and his head has a greenish tinge; the head of the lesser is purplish. No difference in their habits or table qualities.

Chicago.—To the Editor.—What are the best baits for fishing through the ice? J. M. P.

Answer—A big, lively minnow makes the one best bet in ice fishing, if you are after big fish. Small minnows, dead or alive, are all right for blue gills, crappies, perch, and the like. Minnows can often be found near spring holes or in open water. Cut bait will do in a pinch, especially the belly fin of a perch or pickerel. Salt water smelts—get 'em at any fish market—make good bait for big pickerel, lake trout, and wall eyes. For ciscos use glass beads or preserved salmon eggs.

Milwaukee.—To the Editor.—Are fish ducks good to eat? L. A.

Answer—We know old lake men who speak highly of the mergansers or fish ducks, especially when shot in the fall. At this time they are usually in good condition and vary their diet enough to lose much of their "fishiness." It is advisable to first parboil them with an onion before cooking them. We have eaten them and they were not as fishy as blue gills used to be in the spring shooting days. The same applies to golden eyes or "whistlers."

HEAVY SCHEDULE IN BASEBALL FOR BIG TEN TEAMS

Twelve Games Booked by Most of Schools; Track Meets Arranged.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Following the successful football season athletic directors and coaches of the various western conference teams showed considerable enthusiasm in drafting 1920 schedules for baseball, swimming, and track at the regular December meeting at the Auditorium hotel.

The baseball season will open late in April and finish early in June. Most of the mentors scheduled as high as twelve conference games and may take on a few additional with nonconference teams. Minnesota, following its usual custom, will not be represented by a baseball team, while Director Lee of Northwestern asserted the question of baseball at Northwestern will be settled at the next meeting of the faculty committee.

Michigan Books 11 Games.

Michigan, which won the conference baseball championship last year, will play an eleven game schedule, including home and home games with Illinois. Carl Lundgren, who learned all his baseball at Illinois under George Huff, will again be in charge of the baseball situation at Ann Arbor.

Coach Stagg announced his complete outdoor schedule. His track teams will compete in the Drake and Penn relay games, while dual meets have been arranged with Purdue, Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin. The Chicago interscholastic will be renewed and held on Stagg field June 12, one week after the conference meet at Ann Arbor.

Dual Tank Meets Booked.

Dual swimming meets were arranged by Illinois, Chicago, and Northwestern. These meetings will be preliminary to the holding of the conference championship swims at Patten gymnasium on March 19. It also was announced that conference swimming trials will be held on March 18.

George Huff, athletic director at Illinois, asserted the Illinois indoor relay games will be renewed this winter if the armory can be put in shape. Most of the track coaches said they will send teams to all indoor meets of importance held in the west this winter.

Public Interest Reason Harvard Gave Up Trip

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—The proposed trip of the Harvard football team to Pasadena, Cal., to play a western university eleven on New Year's day was abandoned because the university authorities decided that, in view of the coal situation, the trip would not be in the public interest, and not because of any objection raised by Dr. Garfield, federal fuel administrator, according to a statement issued tonight from the office of President Lowell.

Do it Now!

There's going to be some mighty painful price-tag news in the clothing windows very soon.

If you want to avoid pawning the family jewels, or mortgaging the old homestead to raise enough jack for a new suit or overcoat

Consider this:

SO SERIOUS is the shortage in clothing production—and so acute the new price advances—that a leading State Street store is reported as considering the installation of a Second Hand Clothing Department.

They say they've got to do it. Otherwise, Loopdom may not be able to furnish wearing apparel at prices the average man can afford.

Indeed, before long you may well expect to see men buying "used suits" or "rebuilt" overcoats downtown, as naturally as men now buy second-hand automobiles.

T·R·T

Clothes prices are not going up as a matter of probability. They're going up as a matter of certainty—notwithstanding all the soap-box orators and soft-soap politicians.

The best evidence rests in the fact that ready-made clothing Spring lines have already been shown and sold to the trade for as high as $117 a suit wholesale.

T·R·T

All season we have been astounding the merchants of Chicago by retailing a genuine made-to-order suit at $40

—a price only possible because we are a large wholesale house—retailing our product here in Chicago—without any separate store expense.

We cannot guarantee that this price will last. The pressure against it is getting stronger every day.

But we do say this to our Chicago friends, "Buy Now!" Buy not only for your present clothes needs, but for all of next Spring. That is the best immunity we know of, from the coming price-ascensions.

As you bought coal in August—when the buying was good—buy clothes now—while our $40 offer is still open.

RIVAL SCHOOLS HAVE ONLY FOUR ON HONOR TEAM

Three in Back Field and One Side of Line Come from Champions.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Although Oak Park towered above its rivals of the Suburban league during the recent high school season, each of the six schools in the circuit produced one or more outstanding stars. A selection of the most valuable players of the autumn shows seven Oak Parkers on the roster of eleven all-stars, although two of them hold nothing but an eyelash margin over rivals of other schools.

One complete side of the scrimmage line could be plucked entire from the Oak Park lineup, with Berry, center; Harter, guard; Capt. Hoff, tackle, and Godolphin, end. This quartet was the most formidable in Cook county. Berry, 210 pound pivot man, with Harter, a veteran, and Hoff, a skilled line man, to aid, was able to roll wide gaps in the forward walls of practically all opponents.

Godolphin Clever at End.

Godolphin played a corking game all season. He turned in end runs, backed the line on plunges, and circled around behind the opponents to pull down the runners. On offense, Godolphin figured in numerous forward pass plays, and also had an end back formation on which he carried the ball.

At the other end, Gayless, Evanston's colored end, was a valuable man, being stopped in only one game. Gayles was fast and, like Godolphin, swooped down the field under punts and nailed the receiver. Bolaff, Deerfield's captain, at tacke, and Knott of Evanston, at guard, draw the other line selections through steady work all season. Bolan's work attracted the attention of city and suburban high school coaches who saw Deerfield in action. Gess, the Evanston captain, was practically on a par with Bolan.

Three in Back Field.

In the back field three Oak Parkers are given first call to positions, with Hey of La Grange, a fast, sturdy, 195 pound full back, choice of the whole league for the other job. The margin by which two of the Oak Parkers slide into their positions is not decisive. Savage, at quarter, held no decided shade over Noyes, Evanston.

Noyes, while lighter in weight, was a good advancer of the ball. He did not have the same speed and versatility of Savage, but made a better individual showing. Savage, however, was the field general. His choice of plays was excellent, with shift plays, line bucks, rushes from formations in which line men were pulled back, and an assortment of forward pass plays. His successful direction of Oak Park's attack led to his selection.

Contest for Half Backs.

Steger is the best half back in the league, and probably in Cook county. For the other half back place, it is a juggling of the merits of Ziebell of Proviso, and Caruso, Oak Park. The latter was an exceptionally versatile player, and a steady punter and drop kicker in the bargain. Ziebell also punted, and was a good place kicker. In the opinion of Suburban league fans, Ziebell lessened his worth by playing outside football, which is taking liberties with the prep standards of the game.

Stars on Second Team.

Besides Noyes, Ziebell and Hess, the second team contains stellar players in Wright, New Trier center, who ranks with any of the first team line men, but lacked the weight of Berry, and Wilcoxen, Oak Park, an end who did not figure in games at the start of the season. Two shifts of all around good players from their regular positions were made; those of Parcells, Deerfield's regular full back, to end, a position he filled very capably in one game, and Wiedbusch of Proviso, a [illegible] man who was used to plug [illegible] gaps in the Maywood team, from full back to tackle, with which position he is well acquainted.

GREENLEAF AND KEOGH TIED IN POCKET TOURNEY

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 7.—The half way point in the national American pocket billiard tournament, in progress here, found Ralph Greenleaf, Wilmington, Del., and Jerome Keogh, Rochester, N. Y., tied for the lead. Each has won four matches and lost none.

The first week of the tournament produced some excellent pocket billiards, Greenleaf, Allen and Keogh especially displaying brilliant form. In one of his matches Allen broke two world's records—collecting a high run of 81 and completing the game in five innings. With twenty-one matches still to be played the standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	H.R.
Ralph Greenleaf, Wilmington	4	0	42
Jerome Keogh, Rochester, N. Y.	4	0	29
Bennie Allen, Kansas City	3	2	81

Frank Mueller captured a leg on the 1919 Lincoln Park Gun club championship trophy by winning the fifty target distance handicap event yesterday with a score of 45. He shot from the sixteen yard rise. J. P. Bonner was second with 43 and J. Quinlan third with 41. George W. Peck was high professional with 44.

RECORD SQUAD ROLLS IN BOWLING TOURNEY BUT LEADERS STAND

The biggest schedule ever rolled in one day in either a city or state tournament was run off at the Randolph alleys yesterday and last night at the beginning of the second week of the championship tournament of the Chicago Bowling association. Despite the big schedule, none of the leaders was disturbed.

William Serviss made a brave attempt to overtake Al Lake in the individual event, but missed by five pins, finishing with 664. Oscar Halberg was second high for the day with 635.

Phil Wolf and William Brennan of the leading Bruck five, who hit off 3,017 on a late squad Saturday night for a C. B. A. record, were the top pair in the doubles with 1,236, which is second high to date.

The Trostruds made the best showing in the main event with 2,800, which is seventh place in the standing. The Schalls followed with 2,786 and the Sir Cliftons got 2,784. Scores:

TORTORICH HOPES TO LAND BATTLE

New Orleans, La., Dec. 7.—Preference will be given New Orleans for the proposed Jack Dempsey-Georges Carpentier championship boxing bout if other things are equal, Dominick Tortorich, promoter here, announced tonight in quoting a telegram he received from Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager.

Tortorich said that he was waiting for information from his London agent, Nate Lewis, as to Carpentier's possible signature for a match in New Orleans.

Zbyszko and Stecher Fit for Bout Tonight

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—When Wladek Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, and Joe Stecher, the Nebraskan, meet tomorrow night at the Seventy-first Regiment armory both will be trained to the minute and fit to stand a grueling bout. The match will be to a finish.

DEMPSEY WILL ACCEPT BEST BID

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 7.—Two flattering offers for a match between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, European heavyweight champion, have been received by Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager. Kearns today made the following statement to the Associated Press:

"Dempsey has just received a cable from Edward Cochran, the English promoter, offering $175,000 to meet Carpentier there. Dempsey has another offer from D. Tortorich, New Orleans promoter, of $150,000 for Dempsey's end to box Carpentier. Dempsey is making motion pictures here, but is doing light training every day and will be willing and ready to defend his title as quick as Carpentier or any other suitable opponent the public demands to meet Dempsey can be selected. Dempsey would much prefer fighting in America, but will accept the best offer."

EXCESS WEIGHT HEAVY HANDICAP; EXPLAINS WILDE

Briton Says He Was Too Heavy to Show at Best in Sharkey Bout.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Due to the fact that he was required to fight at 107 pounds, which is several pounds overweight for him, Jimmy Wilde, England's flyweight champion, today stated, was the cause of his not being able to show his real fighting ability in his ten round match with Jack Sharkey, the New York bantam, Saturday night.

The Englishman said he would never again match up with any one who could not make his weight or who he could not fight at his best poundage. He also said he would like to try again against Sharkey if conditions were favorable.

The wee Briton, although defeated by the New York bantam, does not consider this his knockout blow in the United States. Wilde since his arrival in Milwaukee has acquired a great liking for the Cream City and has stated that he is planning on making his home here during his stay in this country.

The Mighty Atom today said that Sharkey was at his best while he, in being handicapped by his surplus weight, was unable to fight him according to the style which has brought him so much fame during his boxing career.

BURMAN TO BOX HAHN TONIGHT.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 7.—Joe Burman of Chicago will take on Bernie Hahn of Philadelphia in an eight round bout to a decision here tomorrow night.

Mr. Hart Tries New Tack and Gets Away with It

"JOHN PETTICOATS."
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Lambert Hillyer.
Presented at the Rose Theater.

"Hardwood" John Haynes..Wm. S. Hart
Judge Clay Emerson Meredith........
........................Walt Whitman
Wayne Page .... .George Webb
Caroline Meredith .....Winifred Westover
Roseline Andre ....Ethel Shannon
Ramesca ....Andrew Arbuckle

By Mae Tinée.

Mr. Hart shakes a wicked clog, wears store clothes and miserably bears the ignominy of owning a fashionable modiste shop which has been willed him by a generous granduncle. A decided innovation in the customary Hart layout.

We, who have loved the western hero through his rough and ready, wild and westy days may not have realized what a charmer the parlor and banquet hall had missed. Mr. Hart in a business suit is quite something to approve of. Mr. Hart in a dress suit—girls!

Pitted against the ways of the great city which he doesn't in the least understand, our William with his most approved, wistful collie dog expression runs amuck of elevators, is despitefully used by a smooth villain who is also an aspirant for the hand of a girl who has won Mr. Hart's lusty affections, saves a fair victim of the smooth villain from drowning, bears a reproach that is not his due and finally wins out magnificently.

The people supporting this star are capable players. I loved Walt Whitman as the old southern judge. The photography and direction are adequate.

Perhaps Mr. Hart is tired of the spurs and chaps. Perhaps since so many imitators have arisen to do him flattery he longs to start off on a new tack. It's all right with us if he always gets away with it as well as he does in "John Petticoats."

New Baptist Pastor Formerly a Printer

The Rev. Frank E. R. Miller, called to the pastorate of First Baptist church, Fiftieth street and Ellis avenue, preached his first sermon as pastor yesterday.

Mr. Miller was a printer, having served in every branch of the trade. He was a reporter for newspapers in Boise, Idaho, and Marquette, Mich. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota.

Ordained in 1897, he has held pastorates in Montevideo, Minn.; Mankato, Minn.; Grand Forks, N. D., and Galesburg and Elgin, Ill.

The First Baptist church recently moved into its new home, formerly Pilgrim Congregational church. Since the sale of its building at Thirty-first street and Prairie avenue to Olivet church, it joined with the Memorial Church of Christ, Oakwood boulevard.

FASHIONS BLUE BOOK

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Those who haven't been invited hope to be. And so we are all getting ready for the holiday parties and merrymakings. Above we are showing you one way to do it.

Like so many of the dance dresses of the present season both bodice and skirt of this model have a will of their own. The latter, however, does make a concession, for the overskirt of black and gold brocade opens in front to show pointed underskirt of the same rose colored tulle and valenciennes lace which compose the waist.

As for the waist, harmony between it and the skirt is still further promoted by that study in counterpoint, the valenciennes lace going up in a peak to meet the tulle of the upper section just as the lace of the underskirt goes down.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Fuel for Cold Days.

It is not easy to speak briefly of all the kinds of service one may get from a strip of brisket bacon boiled savory fashion. It is good hot with vegetables. It is highly useful and delicious for a cold weather sandwich filling—high fuel value! The liquor in which it is cooked will have a thick cream of soft white dripping over it when it is cold which is fine shortening for any corn bread, useful in hashes, in making sauces, etc. The liquid is good for seasoning pea and bean soups.

Wipe and brush and rinse the bacon and pour boiling water over it. Let stand for two hours. Before pouring the boiling water over it scrape off—you may have to scrape and scrape—any branding ink from the surface. Scrape again thoroughly after it has soaked, rinsing as often as necessary, then put to cook with cold water to cover. Bring to boiling point and simmer after that, but let this simmering or gentle boiling be constant.

Add to the cooking water an onion, a dry pepper, a carrot, a stalk of celery, a piece of stem or candied ginger if you have it, etc.

Cook till tender, or from two to three hours. When tender and slightly cool, dip your hands in cold water and peel off the skin. If you want to finish by baking it, stick cloves in it, cover with brown sugar, and bake for half an hour.

CAVITIES IN TREES

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Filling the cavities of trees with cement to prolong their lives is being commonly and successfully practiced among orchardists. It is not only worth while in preserving fruit trees but is also the means of saving valuable shade trees. Trees with cavities several inches deep are often cut down when by using a little cement and sand they could be kept alive for ten or fifteen years longer.

Of course, the cavities are small at first, but continue to get larger. They favor decay, weakening the tree.

With a knife or a chisel remove all of the decayed wood. Trim the edges of the wound smoothly with a sharp knife. Then a coat of paint or shellac should be given the outer edge of the wound. Successful growers recommend the use of creosote and coal tar to disinfect the inside of the cavity after it has been thoroughly cleaned out. This may be applied with a brush.

The cement may then be put in immediately. A good mixture may be made of one part cement to two parts of clean sand.

After the cement and sand have been stirred a few minutes add enough water to make the mixture into a thick paste. Begin filling the cavity from the bottom and tamp the material thoroughly. The work may be done on a warm day, and cement must be protected from freezing at least forty-eight hours. Remember that warmth and moisture are essential for the uniform and rapid hardening of concrete.

Made 'Em Giggle.

Upon entering the elevator the other morning in a loop office building where I am employed I noticed a pretty girl and was looking at her and thinking how pretty she was when I suddenly realized I must get off at the next floor and called out "six, pretty." The poor elevator man's face turned red and every one in the elevator giggled, and I sure did make my getaway at No. 6. Now I go in at the other entrance of the building and never try to say "six, please." I say just plain six. I never want a more embarrassing moment. V. M.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Met at a Party.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 17, and am not considered homely. I try to be nice to everybody and to treat every one the same, but somehow no one understands me.

"I was to a party, and while there I met a boy, who is considered perfectly handsome. He was quite attentive to me, and asked to take me home; but I was with another friend, and told him that I was going to go home with him. He then asked for my address and telephone number, which I gave to him.

"Several times since the party he has called me up and asked to take me out. Having heard that he was classed as 'fast,' I refused by saying, 'Not on a school night,' or 'I'm sorry, but I have an engagement.'

"Now, please tell me if I've done right, or should I close my ears against gossip and enjoy myself? I do so want to be good, but he has been very nice to me, and I care a great deal for him. GRACE."

You might find out what sort of young man he is for yourself by having him call at your house, before accepting any of his invitations to go out with him. If he is the right sort he will give you some clew, I feel sure, and your judgment will serve you to decide the matter.

Sell Handiwork of Mountain 'Wimmen Folk' Here Today

The "wimmen folk" of the hills gave their services in return for an "edification," more or less, and so the annual exhibit and sale of products of the fireside industries of the Berea college of Kentucky will be opened today at the Blackstone and will be continued tomorrow and Wednesday.

The articles are the handiwork of the mountain girls and women and were made in the Log House devoted exclusively to the fireside industries of the college. All moneys derived from the sale of these products of the spinning wheel and hand loom go into the treasury of Berea college. Among the goods offered are coverlets, rugs, hangings, and bed "kivers," all true reproductions of colonial heirlooms. Among prominent Chicago women who are active in support of the college and who are patronesses for the sale are Mrs. Timothy B. Blackstone, Mrs. Ira Couch Wood, Mrs. Tracy C. Drake, and Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick. The college sent 800 of its students overseas and nearly fifty were killed in action, among them being Lieut. Frost, son of the head of the college.

The Grant hospital will benefit from a Christmas sale to be held this afternoon and all day tomorrow at the Parkway hotel. The following women will be in charge of the tables: Mrs. William H. Rehm of the boudoir table, Mrs. Frank Birk and Miss Birk, linens; Mrs. F. P. Dewes, aprons; Mrs. Julius Schwill, men's furnishings; Mrs. A. F. Madlener and Mrs. Edward Heiser, infant's table; Miss Camille Henry, dolls and toys; Mrs. Robert Kochs and Mrs. Richard Ostenrieder, candies and cakes, and Mrs. William C. Seipp, tea room.

Mr. and Mrs. John Grassell have cards out for a supper dance to be given at their residence, 4944 Woodlawn avenue, Monday evening, Dec. 29, for their daughter, Virginia, and son, Philip, both of whom will be home from eastern schools for the holidays.

Mrs. John Cudahy of the Blackstone has left for her ranch in southern California to spend the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. D. M. Sherman of 927 Buena avenue and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Patten and small son of Palatine, Ill., have left for California to spend the winter.

Mrs. George H. Ingalls of 33 Bellevue place has as her house guest her mother, Mrs. Hinkle of Cincinnati, O.

Harrison Rhodes of New York, formerly of Chicago, is visiting Abram Poole of 2704 Lake View avenue.

Mrs. John E. May of 54 East Division street, who has spent the autumn in New York, will return in a fortnight, accompanied by her daughter, Harriet, who will spend the holiday vacation at home, returning to school in early January.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Emory Albright of Hubbard Woods are spending the winter in southern California. Their three sons, who returned in the summer from France, will remain in Chicago.

Mrs. Bryan Lathrop gave a luncheon yesterday at her residence, 120 Bellevue place, for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, who are her guests for a few days.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID HAMILTON OSBORNE.

[Koehne Photo.]

A wedding of interest to society was that of David Hamilton Osborne to Miss Margaret Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Bentley of 1505 Astor street, which took place Saturday in the Fourth Presbyterian church. Mr. Hamilton is studying at the New York Art league, and he and his bride will reside in the Greenwich village section of New York City.

A Friend in Need

Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some one less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper. When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

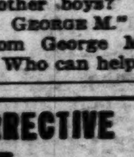

This Family Needs Help.

Will you please help me in the following? I am 12 years old and have a little brother 7 years old. He has tuberculosis. Our father died and we are alone with my mother. We are in need of shoes and clothing, and all mamma can do is pay rent and get a few groceries. Will you please put a piece in your paper for me to get some clothing like you do for other boys? I thank you. GEORGE M.

This manly plea from George M. makes its own appeal. Who can help?

SILK SOX: SILK STOCKINGS have been treated heretofore with quite a good deal of respect, but with their present prices threatening to soar to $15 they take on a value like jewels in our eyes, and insuring them isn't a bad idea—insuring them against runs and drop stitches, and so on. First, get them long enough. If you wear a 4 size shoe get a No. 9 stocking. Never fasten the garters below the double welt at the top of the stocking. Sew a piece of narrow tape over the toe of your stocking, or reinforce the toe by a darning cross stitch. In putting on a silk stocking to avoid jabbing your toe against it and loosening a thread for a marathon run do not run your foot into it held out at full length. Instead, gather it and put the foot in slowly.

One day fire destroyed a stable belonging to Joe's father, and five highly prized horses were killed. That evening as the family sat about disconsolately reviewing the event Joe went to the piano and painstakingly rendered "America" with one finger.

After several repetitions mother said fretfully: "Why do you do that, Joe?"

He looked very much hurt as he slipped off the bench and said, "I just thought maybe a little music would cheer us up." B. S.

THE OPERA

BY W. L. HUBBARD.

Puccini's trilogy, which had its première at the Metropolitan Opera house in New York last year, came to hearing for the first time in Chicago Saturday afternoon at the Auditorium. The three one act operas were written to be performed only in combination, even despite the fact that each is complete musically and dramatically within itself. But the Italian master clearly had in mind the value of contrast in subject and in style which he deliberately planned, and which he wishes to have preserved, realizing, perhaps, an advantage accruing to the work as a whole by such contrast. At least one of the works, however—"Gianni Schicchi"—would be easily and effectively usable as a separate opera combined with ballet or tragic short work in a single bill. For it has qualities which amuse and delight.

The three operas bear the titles, "The Cloak" ("Il Tabarro"), "Sister Angelica" ("Suor Angelica"), and "Gianni Schicchi." The first is realistic, dealing with tragedy which occurs on a barge in the River Seine through a middle aged husband finding that his young wife is enamored of a young stevedore whom he meets coming to a rendezvous with the wife. He makes him confess the amour, strangles him, conceals him under his cloak, and when the wife approaches shows her the face of the dead lover.

The second opera is supposedly mystical and has to do with a girl who, having had a child, is put by her titled family into a convent there to expiate her sin. Seven years have passed and she longs ever for news of her child. Word finally reaches her through an aunt who comes to force her to relinquish all claims on family estates. She brings word the child has died. The nun, now facing lifelong stay in the convent, brews an herb poison and drinks it. Then begs the Madonna to save her soul and as she dies the Madonna appears bringing with her the dead child.

The third opera — a rollicking farce showing the unhappiness of relatives who, hoping for liberal bequests from a rich man just deceased, discover that he has left them nothing. Gianni Schicchi comes to their rescue, impersonates the rich man whose death is unknown to the public, dictates a last will and testament whereby he leaves all the wealth to himself, and then after driving out the scheming relatives uses the money to make two young lovers happy.

The three works are contrasted in subject and spirit more than in musical manner. The scores are frankly and unmistakably Puccini and there are constant reminiscences of "Butterfly," of "Boheme," and of "Tosca." In fact, the well known Puccini peeks out from page after page of all of the scores. Yet none of the writing reaches the level of Puccini at his best. Labor and intent rather than inspiration are evident, or at least so the works impressed on Saturday.

One carries home precious little from the music; and the stories, with the exception of "Schicchi," did not reach the audience on Saturday with any pronounced force. Much of "The Cloak" and of "Sister Angelica" is talk which, while interesting and apt enough when comprehended has little effectiveness to a non-Italian listener.

The works do not grip the attention, and only "Schicchi" with its excellent fooling got across the footlights, and even it would gain vastly by judicious shortening. Of music there is little that wins the liking. There are occasional bits of flowing melody, like the song for Lauretta and one for Rinuccio in "Schicchi," and an impassioned love duet in "The Cloak," but nothing that impresses as do countless pages in Puccini's earlier creations.

The performances were excellent. Mr. Marinuzzi was at the desk and this meant that the score had every beauty brought to the surface, that the singers were not only accompanied but were supported and guided with wondrous sympathy, and that the performance as a whole was held together with master hand.

Mr. Galeffi was vocally excellent both as Michele in "The Cloak" and as the rougish Schicchi in the farce. His acting especially in the comedy was delightful. Miss Jardon proved new worth vocally and dramatically as the wife in "The Cloak." Mme. Claessens showed her sterling value, in character parts by her capital portrayal of La Frugola in "The Cloak," and La Vecchia in "Schicchi." Edward Johnson did good work as the lover in both the first and the last operas, singing with vocal finish and acting well.

Evelyn Herbert did Lauretta charmingly and sang the song, "O mio Babbino" finely. Mme. Raisa as Angelica bore the heavy weight of the second opera and her remarkable voice and intelligent acting lent beauty to unconvincing story and music. Miss Van Gordon was wholly satisfactory as the princess in "Angelica," and Louise Harrison Slade as The Badessa accomplished a successful debut. Edna Darch too was heard for first time and did praise meriting work.

In the evening a packed house watched and enjoyed "Carmen." Mr. Marinuzzi was again at the desk and again conducted wholly from memory just as he had in the afternoon. He gave a reading of the matchless Bizet score, which alone would have made the performance worth while. The melodic richness, the color and spirit, and all the exquisite details of the wondrous music were treated with loving sympathy and highest intelligent appreciation by the young Italian master. And the orchestra responded splendidly.

Mary Garden was Carmen, and gave of her best. She frees the gypsy of the deliberate vamp spirit which the majority of the impersonators deem essential and effective, and makes Carmen a man winner conscious of her power and therefore not obliged to exert herself to conquer. She lets men come to her knowing they will do so as soon as they see her. The result is a quiet forcefulness in the portrayal which the majority of them lack. And this quiet power convinces, compels and gives reality. Vocally Miss Garden was again excellently disposed, and sang the music with the taste and artistry she knows well to bring.

Mr. Fontaine was vocally better as José than he has been in any rôle he has assumed this season, and acted with considerable power, even though suggesting nothing of the struggle or resistence the soldier is supposed to offer to Carmen's wiles. Mr. Baklanoff, too, was in excellent vocal condition and made the Toreador a singer delightful to hear and a person pleasant to watch.

Messrs Pavley and Oukrainsky assisted by Misses Ludmilla, M. Arnold, Y. Arnold Ledova, Nemeroff, and Shermont danced the ballet in the last act with a spirit, color and precision that roused lavish and merited enthusiasm.

Princeton's Head Here Today to Boost Fund

President John Grier Hibben of Princeton university will be the principal speaker at a dinner to be held at the Congress hotel tonight in the interests of the endowment fund campaign. Three million dollars of the proposed $14,000,000 fund already has been raised, the first million going for free scholarships in memory of 142 Princetonians who lost their lives in the great war. The remaining amount will be used for increasing the instructors' yearly pay and for school equipment.

Fort Sumter Fighter Dies at Brooklyn, Aged 98

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—John Francis Reilly died Thursday night after a week's illness, aged 98 years, at his home, 25 Herkimer street, Brooklyn. He fired the shot that exploded the powder magazine in Fort Sumter. He served as boatswain on the United States gunboat Mome, under Admiral Farragut, and with George Dewey as a shipmate. President Lincoln was standing near him one day on the deck of the Mome when Reilly could not find his boatswain's whistle. "You may have this one," said the president, taking from his own pocket a whistle, which remained ever afterward Reilly's most treasured possession.

WALTER G. ADAMS, son of the late Augustus A. Adams, inventor of the corn sheller, and founder of the Sandwich Manufacturing company, died Saturday morning at the home of his son, W. V. Adams, Racine, Wis.

DAVID H. ANDERSON, founder and publisher of the Irrigation Age of Chicago for many years, and a member of the Chicago Press club, died at his home in Elgin Saturday.

All Shops Open on Boardwalk Today; Actors to Be There

The Atlantic City Board Walk fête at the Coliseum, the big charity bazaar which opened with such a rush Saturday, was all quiet yesterday except for janitors and cleaners, who removed the débris of the first day's crowd and swept and dusted. The directors of the Passavant Memorial hospital decided some time ago there should be no Sunday showing. But today everything will be in full blast again. The Board Walk fête is for the benefit of the Passavant building fund.

Boardwalk silhouette of Elizabeth McCormick.

Silhouettes of workers and patrons of the bazaar are being made by Baron Scotsworth in the beauty shop, of which Mrs. W. H. Scriven is chairman. Among those whose silhouettes already have been cut are Mrs. Scriven, Miss Elizabeth McCormick, Mrs. Frederick Hawson, Mrs. Carleton Holdredge, Mrs. Frederick Tahl, Mrs. E. S. Hughes, and Mrs. William B. Kelly Jr.

Robert J. Dunham, treasurer of the Board Walk, estimated that more than 23,000 people swept along the Walk on Saturday.

Tonight, with the theaters and other places of amusement closed, it is expected that the gross attendance of Saturday will be surpassed. The Walk is opened at 1 o'clock and remains open until 11 o'clock in the evening. Then there is a cabaret performance in the Annex.

Tonight the "Take It from Me" company at the Studebaker will give its services, and the entire cast of chorus and principals, in costume, will be seen at the cabaret.

Hazel Dawn and stars from the "Scandals" company will also be present, and the cabaret—known as the Lobster Lagoon—will house the only show in town. Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank has charge of this branch.

During the afternoon, in addition to the regular concert by the "Board Walk band," there will be an additional concert by the United States navy recruiting band.

All the thirty-three shops on the Walk will be in operation.

NERVOUS CORN MARKET IS DUE TO LIGHT STOCKS

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

It is the belief of all those who study the corn situation closely with an open mind that until there is a movement from the country of sufficient volume to result in an accumulation of stocks sufficient to put the trade in a normal condition that nervous, fluctuating markets are to be expected.

As a result of the coal strike there is no immediate probability of such a continued large run of grain, as it will have to be brought about by a heavy movement and a decline in cash prices to a delivery basis, so that elevator people and carriers can take the cash corn and hedge it for future delivery.

Receipts of corn give evidence of some increase, and there is ample room for further enlargements. Primary arrivals last week were 3,784,000 bu, or 177,000 bu more than last year, but 607,000 bu less than the previous week, despite the easing of the car situation in parts of western Iowa and constant reiterated claims by receivers of increased consignment notices.

Corn Prices Advance.

Increased speculative buying and covering by shorts has advanced prices to the highest level of late last week, followed by a good reaction, but the close was at gains of 1¾@4¼c for the week.

Closing trades Saturday were: December, $1.39⅝; January, $1.36¼@1.36; May, $1.33⅞@1.33¾, and July, $1.32¾.

Prices for the week follow:

	December.	May.	July.
Mon	1.36⅞-1.38⅜	1.31½-1.33⅜	1.31¼-1.32⅜
Wed	1.39⅛-1.43¾	1.32⅞-1.35⅞	1.32⅞-1.35

Wheat Prices Highest of Season.

Wheat prices are the highest of the season, with No. 2 red at $2.46, No. 2 hard at $2.60, showing advances of 28@37c over the basic price, while No. 1 northern at $3.30 is 94c above the government figures. The Grain corporation has sold about 8,000,000 bu of wheat in the last two weeks to millers, or practically half of its stock in Chicago and vicinity. The wheat situation is stronger and is reflected in the advance of 10¼@11¼c in rye futures last week.

Oats advanced 6c for December and almost 5c for May, the low point of the previous week. Trading increased in a speculative way, and although heavy realizing sales resulted in the closing days, the finish was within three-quarters of 1 per cent of the top. Cash oats sold at 82c, the highest of the season, 82c for No. 2 white.

Deliveries for the week were 537,000 bu. December closed Saturday at c, up 3⅛c; May, 79⅝@79⅝c, up 3c, and July, 75⅝c, up 2⅝c. Prices for the week follow:

Losses in Lard.

Eastern speculators who bought lard some time ago at higher prices were resellers last week, some taking losses of 2c a pound, this in the face of a decrease of 9,120,000 lbs of lard at western packing points, compared with an increase of 11,742,000 lbs in November last year.

Pork closed with gains of 85c@$1.35 for the week, while lard is off 40@82½c, and short ribs are 35@70c higher. Prices for the week follow:

CASH DIVIDENDS OF STANDARD OIL SHOW INCREASE

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Cash dividend payments of the Standard Oil companies in the fourth quarter of 1919 amounted to $38,339,771, compared with $32,384,000 in the third quarter and $35,-035,000 in the final quarter of 1918. Cash payments for 1919 amount to $103,420,000, compared with $103,480,000 in 1918, a decrease of $61,000.

Cash dividends in the final quarter of this year exceed those of the same period of any previous year since the dissolution in 1911, the largest amount previously paid in the last quarter being in 1917, when $27,463,000 was disbursed.

1917	98,927,000	1913	107,795,000

WEEK'S MARKET IGNORES BUDGET OF BEAR NEWS

Domestic Conditions Reason for Confidence Manifested.

The New York Times.

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—For those inclined to emphasize the unfavorable aspects of things, last week was productive of a series of events of which much could be made.

Sharp declines of foreign exchange, the stubborn prolongation of the coal strike, resulting in curtailment of industrial plant operation and of transportation, the threat of German political leaders to oppose the fulfillment of peace treaty provisions, the disorders in Italy, delay in legislative quarters at Washington in considering this country's obligation in respect to the treaty of peace, these items were prominent in the array of factors with an adverse bearing upon sentiment.

Yet, withal, it could not be said that pessimism reigned in financial circles.

Perhaps habit of thought on this side of the water has not become sufficiently imbued with the importance of international developments. Both bankers and manufacturers have been trained to think first in terms of the nation's internal developments as pointing the way to prosperity or depression.

Find Reasons for Hope.

A survey of domestic conditions disclosed some disturbing matters, but there were others conducive of encouragement which allowed room for the happy feeling expressed in not unimportant quarters that the greater problems of labor, business and finance will work out all right in the end. The demand for goods continued far in excess of the supply, bank clearings on a truly enormous scale reflected a vast turnover of trade despite handicaps and the fact that high prices cause the use of much more capital than in normal periods to do a given amount of work. An easement of credit conditions, even though temporary, proved a relief to the financial markets, and news from various industrial centers told of preparations for future activity which discounted current difficulties and looked ahead.

The course of the stock market was such as to tax the capacity of both the sagacious and the reckless, the farsighted and the nearly blind.

Market Advance Surprise.

The speculative group who maintained that previous liquidation had not gone far enough were surprised by a moderate advance of quotations, an advance amounting to something more than two points in the average. The calculations of short sellers who had taken a position based on the unfavorable items outlined above did not work out.

Later it may be discovered that the week's recovery was nothing more than an interval of rest before a secondary decline.

But a forecast that this would occur was not warranted by actual happenings. On the other hand, there was so much of a possibility that natural short covering after a hard fall supplied a great part of the buying that "bullish" market followers could not find courage for extensive operations for the rise. The stock market, doubtless, was what federal reserve officials and many bankers liked to see. Ardent speculation was absent, and quotations displayed enough firmness to impart steadiness to investment sentiment.

Buying on Small Scale.

The buying of stocks was not on a scale large enough to increase loans materially, and the weekly clearing house bank statement showed that bank loans outside of the stock market had been reduced to a sizeable degree. In contrast with the recent wild movements which aroused apprehension in the higher banking circles, the week produced what was practically a deadlock between buyers and sellers. The tendency was upward, but no man could tell whether it would continue or shortly revert into a new declining movement.

American Candy Company

The Common Stock

For a limited time we are offering the right to purchase five shares of the common stock of this Company with each share of the 7% Cumulative Preferred Stock. We recommend all purchasers of the preferred stock to avail themselves of this privilege, as the common stock is offered at a very low underwriting price and will undoubtedly attain a much higher market level in the near future. Application will be made to list both classes of stock on the Chicago and St. Louis Stock Exchanges.

This Company, which began business with $8,000 cash capital in 1888 and which has never up to the present time taken in any outside capital, has declared dividends of nearly one million five hundred thousand dollars, or more than the total issue of this preferred stock. During the past twenty-six years the Company has earned on an average 28% on the outstanding capital. Profits for 1919 will be about five hundred thousand dollars, or nearly six times the dividend requirements on the preferred stock. This will leave a large surplus and it is estimated that after taxes, earnings will be at the rate of 25% on the present offering price of the common stock. No other Candy issue on the market, in our opinion, offers more attractive possibilities than does American Candy common stock. Write for particulars.

Chicago Pneumatic Tool.

W. E. R.—The Chicago Pneumatic Tool company is issuing $6,448,800 of new stock at par, the proceeds to be used in paying $1,998,300 of bonds and financing expansion of the business. Ordinarily an issue of new stock below the market tends in a proportionate depression of value when the subscription rights are sold. In this case the retirement of bonds will tend in the opposite direction. The stock represents participation in the business. Whether it is a "good" investment depends on the investor's viewpoint. It is not a conservative investment for savings.

Ahrens-La France Fire Engine.

J. W. C.—The American La France Fire Engine company has outstanding $1,350,000 of notes, $2,000,000 of preferred stock, and $1,450,000 of common. It is now issuing $500,000 new common stock at $10 per sh. $11.25. Earnings have been good or rather wide fluctuations in the past. Last year the company earned 12 per cent on its common stock and paid 6 in dividends. This year the rate has been increased to 8 per cent. The common stock primarily is speculative.

Dearborn Truck.

K. S. B., Argos, O.—The Dearborn Truck company's balance sheet of June 30 last shows $610,000 of net tangible assets, $267,700 of preferred stock outstanding, and 30,000 shares of common. Earnings in the first half of this year are said to have been $93,000, but no detailed income account is available. When and if the company qualifies under the Illinois blue sky law more complete data will be available.

Brief Answers.

J. R., Dixon, Ill.—As far as shown in the prospectus, stock of the McDonnell Water Gas company is purely speculative. When and if the promoters qualify under the blue sky law some financial details will be available. They cannot legally sell stock in Illinois at present.

L. B. C.—A minimum of 40 cents in gold must be paid against every dollar of federal reserve notes outstanding. No gold reserve is required for federal reserve bank notes. Only about $90 of the latter are outstanding to every $1,000 of the former.

R. A. S.—We have no record of the St. Louis-Madison Oil company.

The Store of the Christmas Spirit

A Happy Outdoor Christmas

HALE and hearty pioneers had fuel problems more serious than ours, in many cases, but from their times the greatest Christmas traditions have been inherited.

Give the children skates and sleds and warm wool clothing; give your grown-up friends sweaters and fur-lined gloves, and encourage them to a wholesome, invigorating, healthful Christmas out-of-doors.

THE GIFT SECRETARY

Obtains Information for You and Simplifies Your Christmas Shopping

IF you would preserve all the Christmas morning "surprise" and still send Gifts that please and that fit, you will need the services of the Gift Secretary.

Bring to her the names and addresses of those whom you wish to remember. She will then get in touch with them, obtain the necessary information and endeavor to have the information for you in a few days—all without revealing your identity to those whom you wish to remember.

After a few days you should call at the Gift Secretary's Desk, obtain the information—free to do your Christmas shopping, with all guesswork and doubt eliminated.

Important Special Purchase

Neckwear 50c to $5.50

Dainty and Exquisite

THIS annual purchase offers a great variety and little of any one kind. But all are fine, much finer than the prices usually would command, and are ideal for gifts for even the most discriminating friends.

Round Collars—like that at the left above, also Tuxedo and square styles, for the smart round-necked dark frocks—are made of fine net, lace-edged, and dot embroidered, or of very dainty laces, organdy and Georgette. 95c, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2, $3, $4.

Jabots with stock or flat collars attached, like those pictured at the right of the top and bottom panels, $1 to $3.95.

Guimpes—of fine net, with low or high necks, $1, $1.25, $1.50 to $5.50. That sketched at the lower left is one dainty example.

First Floor, Middle, State.

Warm Coverings Are Gifts That Spell Comfort

Wool-Filled Comforters, Very Special, $29.50

THESE are covered with Japanese silk and are lined with a fine French cambric. The colors are rose and Copenhagen.

Desirable Blankets Moderately Priced

66 x 80 inches, $13.50
72 x 90 inches, $14.75

Second Floor, State.

Felt Slippers—Special—$2.35

THESE Slippers are made of the highest quality felt and are attractively embroidered with braid. They are one of our most attractive models, with soft padded soles and ribbon pompon, in blue, oxford, gray, or wine.

At this special price, the quantity we have to offer is certain soon to be exhausted, especially when one realizes how welcome such a gift always is.

Women's Footwear. Fourth Floor, State.

For the Little, Important Ones

From the Infants' Wear Section

Hand Quilted Carriage or Crib Covers, of pink or blue silk, are $7.50.

Juvenile Floor—the Fourth.

New French Perfumes

Rare and Exquisite

BEAUTIFUL, too, are the bottles which contain these lovely Extracts and Toilet Waters, each bottle unique and distinctive of its kind. They are representative of the well-known perfume shops of Paris: Caron, d'Orsay, Gabilla, Houbigant, Guerlain, and many others.

For those gifts which require unusual discrimination, here will be found a charming solution.

Women's Suits Reduced

SO many women like a Suit to wear beneath their topcoats in cold weather, a Suit that they can keep on indoors, at home, shopping or at business.

Some as low as $18.75.

Women's Suits, Sixth Floor, South.

Japanese Silk Shirtings Yard, $3

THESE are of a very beautiful quality Wash Silk, with varied stripes of all colors which have been woven into the fabric.

They are our own importation, which makes it possible for us to offer them at this price.

Toys a Little Girl Loves

FIRST of all, the "Made in America" Dolls with the engaging countenances of the finer Dolls formerly made abroad.

Of these, "Little Mary Mix-up," pictured above at the right, is an example, attractively dressed, $2.25. Other Dolls of this family, $2 to $3.50.

Toy Section, Juvenile Floor—the Fourth.

Last Week, 332 More Children Wrote In for the Juvenile World

THIS is our little newspaper published for boys and girls and their parents and is full of pictures and stories. If you would like to have it come to your house every week, just send in your name and address to

Editor Juvenile World, Marshall Field & Company, Retail

Children's Furniture True to Life

TRUE in proportion and in manufacture to the larger models which grown-ups delight in owning, these pieces answer every wish of the child in their fidelity to the original. They meet most fully the plea of the child for something "Just like Mother's, only small enough for me."

Come and see the many cunning little examples of Furnishings for a child's home or for play, and see how well they are adapted to child-use.

New!

Sports Smocks

THE Smock for Summer is well-established, but until the advent of these charming styles, we remember no Smock designed for wear at Winter sports.

Of fine wool jersey, hand embroidered, trimmed with hand stitching in chenille threads, or with crocheted flowers, as in the style sketched, $25.
